National Labor Board Seeks To Settle A. & P. Strike

FEAR SPREAD OF DISPUTE OVER NATION

Efforts Being Made to Get Both Sides to Submit Problem to Arbiters

2200 OUT OF WORK

Head of Huge Chain Store Declares Talk Futile as Decision is Settled

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Facing discouragements from all sides, the National Labor Relations board today undertook settlement of the Cleveland chain grocery dispute which administration leaders viewed as a rapidly growing threat to President Roosevelt's projected industrial truce.

John A. Hartford, head of the Great A. and P. Tea Co., left New York for his conference with the labor board, insisting that talk was futile, that the company's decision to abandon its Cleveland business was final. Union officials left Cleveland for the crucial Washington conference, insisting that negotiations were doomed to failure unless the company agreed to "100 per cent unionization."

Watching from the sidelines, officials of the New Deal saw threats of a nation-wide struggle between the Great A. and P. and another grocery operator in the United States and the world, and union labor.

Dangers Seen
An added danger was the possibility, if not a probability, that if not settled, the controversy would spread quickly to the other great national chains. Already meat cutters had gone on strike against the A. and P. and another chain in two Wisconsin cities, and union leaders were talking of making their fight against the A. and P. effective in all Ohio and Wisconsin.

The probable solution to be pressed by the labor board was an agreement of both sides to submit their differences to arbitration and a promise by the company to resume its business providing the controversy could be settled.

Although concerned over the recovery threat presented in throwing 2200 persons out of work at one blow, the administration was even more concerned at the possibilities of another widespread labor outbreak.

L. A. STREET RAILWAY STRIKE THREATENED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Approximately 3000 motormen and conductors employed by the Los Angeles railway are prepared to strike unless the company signs a contract to be submitted by the Amalgamated Street and Electric Railway Employees association, J. J. Morgan, business agent of the union, has notified National Labor Board officials.

Principal differences between the union and the company, which already has been recognized as the collective bargaining group, centers around the right to represent employees of the company who have not joined the union.

P. B. Harrie, general manager of the railway, said the union had not yet presented the agreement and said he would refuse to make any comment until it was received.

NEPHEW OF CONSUL IS DISCOVERED DEAD

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Alexander Hamilton Robertson, 11, of Greensburg, Pa., was found dead last night, hanging in chains, at the Mexico City Country club.

The boy was a nephew of American Consul Alexander K. Sloan. He came here ten days ago with his mother, Mrs. Robert Farmer Jamison, Sloan's sister.

Consular authorities said that the death was accidental. Mexican authorities, because of the circumstances, said they believed an investigation necessary.

Sloan and Mrs. Jamison will leave for Greensburg tonight with the boy's body.

CAREER CLOSED

LOU TELLEGEN, STAGE, SCREEN STAR, SUICIDE

Former Matinee Idol Ends Life Dramatically by Stabbing Himself

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Handsome Lou Tellegen closed his spectacular stage and screen career today, a suicide.

A heroic figure on the stage, a romantic screen lover and husband of famous women, Tellegen ended his life on a high dramatic note.

Shaved cleanly, face powdered and hair immaculate as for the footlights, he stabbed himself in the bathroom of a wealthy friend, wrapped his robe about his bleeding body and then permitted himself to slump to the floor.

He died without a word. A butler in the home of Mrs. J. P. Cudahy, member of the Chicago packing family, who had befriended him, found the actor barely breathing. He died shortly after.

After tasting the acclaim of world-wide audiences, Tellegen had fallen into financial straits. Additionally he was desperately ill of cancer of the bladder. He was 51 years old.

In brighter days as a matinee idol, Tellegen had been in succession the husband of the Countess Jeanne de Brochere, Geraldine Farrar, operatic star; Isabel Craven Dilworth, known on the screen as Nina Romano, and Eva Casanova. Friends believed Miss Casanova still was his wife. There had been no word of legal separation or divorce.

Born in Holland
Tellegen was born in Holland, the son of Bernhard and Maria Von Dommelen, noted Dutch actors, and completed his preparation for the stage with two years at the Conservatory of Paris.

He had made his American debut with Sarah Bernhardt in "Joan of Arc" in 1919, returned to London with her the next season and in 1914 came back to America, appearing as Ramon in "Marie Rosa." A few years later he entered motion pictures, again with

SIX LOSE LIVES IN OHIO OHUSE BLAZE

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 30.—(UP)—Six persons were burned to death today when fire of undetermined origin destroyed a two-room home on what police described as "squatterland" in the Dry Run district here.

The dead:
Ralph Lane, 38, a millworker; an unidentified woman about 40, and Lane's four children, two girls and two boys, ranging from 5 to 16 years in age.

The fire was discovered by a watchman at the Johnson China company plant.

Advised by neighbors that the Lane children were believed to be in the structure, firemen broke down the charred sides of the home and found the bodies of the children in bed.

In another room they found the bodies of the man and woman, erect in chairs.

FOUR HELD IN CONNECTION WITH DILLINGER'S ESCAPE

Merriam's Credit Plan Is Attacked

Ray L. Haight Asserts Governor Doesn't Realize What It Means

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—Governor Merriam's supporters are turning heaven and earth today to keep Upton Sinclair in the race, Raymond L. Haight, Commonwealth Party candidate declared in a state-wide political address over the radio last night.

"Many rumors have appeared in the press during the last three or four days growing out of the fact that in traveling through the state, I met and talked with Mr. Upton Sinclair," he continued. "If it is any satisfaction to anybody, I might say now that during the course of the last few months I have met and chatted with most of the candidates for governor as well as Lieutenant-governor, and so far as I know, just about everybody has asked everybody else to withdraw. There is one possible exception, and that is, I have heard nothing about Mr. Merriam asking Mr. Sinclair to withdraw in his favor. As a matter of fact, all over the state tonight supporters of Mr. Merriam are turning heaven and earth to keep Mr. Sinclair in the race."

"Mr. Merriam is quoted a few days ago as saying positively that there were no slush funds behind him. I have before a copy of a letter written by the Secretary of the United California League. Every one of you have seen some of their billboards. Three sentences from that letter read as follows: 'By the time of the election we will have raised nearly a million dollars in the State of California. We have to date distributed some six hundred thousand pamphlets, of which I am enclosing a few specimens. We have also caused to be erected some two thousand billboards.'"

O'CONNOR DECLARES NOT FARLEY AGENT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(UP)—The California gubernatorial fight has been the subject of frequent conversations to official circles in Washington, but J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, was not sent here to ask the withdrawal of Upton Sinclair, Democratic nominee, O'Connor said on his arrival by plane today.

It had been widely reported that the purpose of O'Connor's visit to his native state at this time was to attempt to influence Sinclair's retirement in favor of Raymond Haight, Progressive-Commonwealth candidate for governor.

It was said that he was an emissary of Postmaster General James A. Farley.

ANAHEIM TO PLAY HOST TO 50,000 PERSONS AT ANNUAL OBSERVANCE OF HALLOWE'EN

PLANS HAVE been completed for the city of Anaheim to play host tomorrow to approximately 50,000 persons at the annual observance of the city's Halloween festival. The merchants of the city have entered into the spirit of the festival and store windows are decorated in the Halloween theme. To further carry out the theme business men, employees of stores and visitors in the downtown area Wednesday will appear in appropriate costume—or else. The "or else" will be provided by a Kangaroo Court to be presided over by City Attorney George Holden as judge.

While the highlight of the festival will be the parade scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Thursday, the fête will really start tonight when a committee of judges visits the 27 business houses that have entered the competition for the best decorated show windows. The judges are J. A. Claves, Dr. Walter Bigham and Dr. George Paige.

Show windows entered in the competition will be judged between the hours of 6 and 9 p. m. Results of the contest will be announced Wednesday morning from the office of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce. Judges for parade entries and the horse show will be announced later by L. H. Loudon of the general committee who is in charge of naming the judging committees.

Official celebration of the Halloween Marvell Festival is scheduled for 10 a. m. Wednesday when the Kangaroo court convenes in a convenient downtown location. Judge Holden will preside and policemen will be named to be on duty. These policemen will be instructed to take into custody every citizen of the Mother Colony who fails to appear downtown

FIRST LADY IS DR. BRIGGS, DRY ASSAILED FOR LEADER, CALLED POLITICAL ACTS DURING NIGHT

Criticized by Candidates for Taking Active Part in N. Y. Campaign

WHITE PLAINS, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Political activities of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt were criticized last night by two Republican speakers—a candidate for the U. S. senate and a candidate for representative at large—before a rally of 6000 voters.

E. Harold Cluett, running for the senate, asserted that "the result of the publication of a masterpiece of General Farley's masterpiece (on the Sinclair candidacy in California) was a veiled announcement from the White House that the president

A Wonderful Opportunity For Santa Anans

(An Editorial)
Tonight, in the Ebell clubhouse, Dr. Frederick W. Roman will conduct his open forum.

Dr. Roman has been carrying on this forum in Santa Ana for a year. The period for the forum is two hours.

The first hour is devoted to a discussion of current events by Dr. Roman. This is followed by a question period and a brief recess. Then Dr. Roman takes up one single phase, either doing the lecturing himself or bringing some specially informed man upon the particular topic.

Dr. Roman has been carrying on this kind of work for many years in Los Angeles, and he is conducting a most successful forum of like character one night a week at Pasadena and one night a week at Long Beach, and others at other points.

For those who desire to keep abreast of the times, under the leadership of one of the most able and one of the best informed and fairest minds, Dr. Roman's forum presents a wonderful opportunity.

While Dr. Roman will be considered conservative in his conclusions in respect to governmental action, he is progressive enough to emphasize that society, through its democracy, must recognize the problems of the day and meet them with intelligence and decision.

For such action, Dr. Roman's forum is peculiarly fitted for the men and women who think. At the other points where his forums are conducted, capacity houses greet his lectures.

In Santa Ana alone, of all the points where he is conducting his forum, there is a serious question as to the attendance justifying his efforts.

We would urge all men and women who enjoy a stimulating, intellectual discussion of current events and who realize the great contribution that such a forum can make to a city like Santa Ana, and who can, to be present tonight at the Ebell clubhouse at 7:30. We believe Dr. Roman's second hour is on the subject of "The Passion Play."

Under the law which provides that teachers must take certain institute work, the county superintendent of schools of Los Angeles county has designated Dr. Roman's forum as fulfilling the requirements of the law. This shows the light in which these lectures are viewed in Los Angeles.

Crown Point Jailers Are Questioned

Officials Say Charges of Murder to Be Placed Against Group

CROWN POINT, Ind., Oct. 30.—(UP)—State investigators today linked two murders with John Dillinger's "wooden gun" escape from the Lake county jail last March 3, the United Press learned today.

The murder claims followed the seizure of two officials of the jail and two other men for questioning.

Those taken into custody were: Lew Baker, jail warden; Ernest Blunk, deputy sheriff and fingerprint expert; Harvey Keiser, Crown Point saloon owner.

Dennis M. Dunn, father-in-law of Keiser, committed in gangland fashion, occurred in Lake county.

Alleged "Payoff"
The victims were put out of the way because they knew too much about the details of the escape which cost Dillinger $1800.

According to evidence claimed by investigators assigned to the case by Gov. Paul V. McNutt.

A third man, supposedly a Lake county attorney, also was reported to have been taken into custody. Baker and Blunk were routed down by a detail of state police led by Deputy Attorney General J. Edward Barco.

They were spirited out of town, supposedly to some isolated spot, for further questioning.

Barco has been in Lake county for several months obtaining evidence which he says will prove Dillinger's escape was made possible by a "payoff."

Barco, who established himself in a Hammond hotel to carry on his secret investigation, was said to have been threatened twice by the same underworld mob that killed the two witnesses.

The deputy attorney general came here under the guise of inquiry.

RULING ON ILLEGAL VOTING IS DELAYED

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—(UP)—The state supreme court at noon today put over until 4 p. m. consideration of the case of approximately 25,000 Los Angeles voters, whose right to cast ballots has been questioned. It was said the judges desire additional study of the matter.

The supreme court conferred for two hours on the case and was unable to reach a decision on the legality of steps taken in Los Angeles to purge voters' lists on a wholesale scale.

At the close of the conference, Chief Justice William H. Waste announced the court felt it necessary to read more authorities and study further points of law involved. He expressed hope a decision could be reached at a second conference.

WATER PROJECT IS BEING KEPT ACTIVE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 30.—(UP)—An emergency allowance of $5000 to keep the Central Valley Water project before the Federal Public Works Administration has been approved by Governor Frank E. Merriam.

The fund will be used by the state department of public works to continue studies and surveys in keeping with federal requirements set up when the original application for aid was made of PWA in Washington.

"State funds are exceedingly limited and the greatest economy is needed, but I believe this project of such overwhelming importance that I will do everything possible to get the necessary work started," Governor Merriam said.

DUST STUDENTS AT U. C. L. A. IN FORUM BATTLE

Accuse Five of Aiding National Student League to 'Destroy School'

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Police riot squads were called to the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles today when more than 2000 students gathered to hear leaders plead the cause of five prominent students who were suspended from college for a year for alleged Communist activities.

Although officers were called to disperse the group, the students were said to have returned to their study halls voluntarily. University authorities said there had been no semblance of a riot.

Five of the most prominent students of the University of California at Los Angeles were barred from the campus today, suspended on charges of "using their student offices to aid the National Student League, a Communist organization, to destroy this university."

The suspended students, John Burnside, student body president; Sidney Zaagri, forensics chairman; Thomas Lambert, men's chairman, Mendel Lieberman, scholarship chairman, and Celeste Strack, co-ed debater, were accused in a public statement issued by Provost Ernest C. Moore.

Provost Moore (the title is equivalent to that of vice-president) charged the students ignored the wishes of the President Robert A. Sproul of the University of California, who did not desire them to hold a campus forum on the state election, and alleged they held a meeting discussing the forum.

From two of the youths came emphatic denials last night that they were in any way connected with the league.

"I do not know anything about the league, its activities or its program here," Zaagri asserted, adding:

"We were merely fighting for the Open Forum so that U. C. L. A. students might enjoy free opportunity for debate."

"I am not a member of the league or any other alleged political or 'movement' organization," declared Lambert.

Miss Strack, a senior, defended the student fight for an Open Forum and denied it was connected with the Communist party.

Officers of the National Student League also denied that the men had any connection with their organization.

LINDSEY'S NAME ON BALLOT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—(UP)—A state supreme court order today kept the name of Ben R. Lindsey, former Denver jurist, on the ballot as a candidate for superior court judge in Los Angeles.

The court denied the petition of Ernest A. Stewart, Los Angeles jurist, who sought to have Lindsey's name removed on charges that Lindsey allegedly had not been a resident of California for five years and also that he had been disbarred following a conviction on a charge of receiving funds of wards of his court.

SUPPORT OF BRITISH TO U. S. LACKING

United States Being Increasingly Isolated by Policy Under Principle

JAPS IGNORE AMERICA

Information Given Great Britain is Withheld from United States

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)
LONDON, Oct. 30.—(UP)—American hope for unequivocal British support against Japanese demands for naval equality seemed quashed today.

British naval delegates made it plain to the Americans at their meeting yesterday, it was learned, that they oppose Japan's demands for "global" allotment of naval tonnage as firmly as the United States.

But both Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John Simon, foreign minister, it is known, showed decidedly more readiness than the United States to recognize the principle of Japanese equality.

(Under a "global" tonnage allotment a nation would be free to build ships of such size and class as it desired within a specified total maximum of naval tons.)

Tactically, the United States seemed increasingly isolated.

The Japanese have advised the British experts as to some technical points of their demands without giving the same information to the United States, and thereby have strengthened the American belief that they are eager to advance their talks with the British while leaving the United States delegates in suspense.

One point on which the Japanese gave British information, but has not given it to the United States, concerned a plan for allocation of tonnage.

Under this particular plan the global tonnage scheme would be modified so that battleships, aircraft carriers and heavy cruisers would be limited almost exactly as to number and tonnage, while light cruisers, destroyers and submarines could be built as desired within a total tonnage agreement.

The Japanese, it was learned, have hinted that if they were granted equality they would not actually build beyond a ratio of four tons to five tons each for America and Britain. They were told in reply, it was said unambiguously, that no such compromise would be acceptable.

"The Japanese have let the cat out of the bag, and we are waiting to see the kittens," said an American today—meaning that the next move must come from Japan. It was expected the Japanese and Americans would meet tomorrow.

Then the Americans will see the British claim.

FORTIFICATION OF PACIFIC FORECAST

PRICE OF GASOLINE IN TEXAS GOES UP

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 30.—(UP)—Control of the unruly East Texas oil field today appeared to be an accomplished fact. With control came apparent stabilization of gasoline prices at levels more than 100 per cent above those of a week ago.

Reinstatement of the distress purchase plan by the planning and coordination committee at Washington, expects momentarily, apparently was the only remaining new harmony among producers, refiners and marketers.

Representatives of 50 refineries in the field last night at Glade-water agreed to post a wholesale price of 11 cents a gallon for East Texas gasoline tomorrow. That figure is six cents above the level at which motor fuel sold during the recent price war. The 11-cent rate is two cents higher than the retail price for third grade gasoline in Dallas and Fort Worth last week.

FIRST LADY IS ASSAILED FOR POLITICAL ACTS

dent is distinctly out of all local political contexts.

"Perhaps the president is not, I consider it not only extremely unfair but thorough bad taste that Mrs. Roosevelt is now stumping the state in behalf of your countrywoman, a Democratic candidate for congressman at large. The people today forgive such acts of President Roosevelt, but some day they are going to return to plague him."

Miss Natalie Couch, Republican candidate for the seat for which Mrs. Caroline O'Day is campaigning under Mrs. Roosevelt's auspices, contented herself with the expression:

"A very prominent Democratic lady from Washington has made so many speeches against me that I sometimes wonder who is my real opponent in this campaign."

MRS. ROOSEVELT TO CONTINUE HER ACTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(UP)—There is no certainty in the capital that the nation has made up its mind whether Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt should do all the things she does. There is ample assurance she will continue to do them.

But whether Mrs. Roosevelt finally will prove to be a political liability or a political asset is strictly a matter of opinion.

The consensus probably is that a first lady who is often on page one because of her interest in politics, economics, sociology, literature, pedagogy—to name a few—is an asset.

It wouldn't make much difference but for the American habit of including wives among the issues in the political campaigns of their husbands. Mrs. Roosevelt's activity makes it inevitable that she will be much discussed during the next two years leading to a presidential election.

Invades Politics

She has just invaded the field of practical politics as a speaker for Caroline O'Day, Democratic candidate-at-large in New York for the house of representatives. Natalie F. Couch, Republican candidate, says Mrs. Roosevelt is boosting her friend with White House prestige.

There are indications, but so slight as to be scarcely straws in the wind, that the farm belt and the southwest do not quite understand Mrs. Roosevelt. In those sections there may be a preference for the smiling, passive Grace Goodhue Coolidge type of president's wife as opposed to the Roosevelt pattern.

The east is accustomed to Mrs. Roosevelt. She is doing now on a larger scale precisely what she

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Oct. 30. (To the Editor of The Register.) Well, sir, there was an awful heart-rendering little item of news in the papers this morning. It's just as well you mayb didn't see it. The New York Stock Exchange lost $287,986 last year. According to their own press sheet. They state that it's the first time in the history of the "racket" that they have ever published their winnings or losses. (Well, in fact, they haven't printed any of their winnings yet.) But it's encouraging to the bread line to have such a prominent new member join 'em.

did as the wife of the governor of New York.

Mrs. Roosevelt does the unusual. Thirty years ago she marched one day in a demonstration of paper box factory strikers. She shocked her family about the same time by choosing to live in the Rivington street settlement house on New York's lower East Side.

Working conditions, workers' compensation, housing and politics have absorbed much of Mrs. Roosevelt's adult energy. It has been estimated that in five years before entering the White House Mrs. Roosevelt picked up $25,000 from endorsements, radio talks and writing. The family purse is rather lean and expenses are large. After the inauguration she abandoned her cold cream radio hour and resigned editorship of "Babies—Just Babies." She began an advice-to-the-puzzled page in the Woman's Home Companion.

LINDY KIDNAPING HELD ONE MAN JOB

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 30.—(UP)—New Jersey authorities have reached the conclusion that Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. was kidnapped and murdered by one man and Attorney General David T. Wilentz is confident he will be able to prove that man was Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Wilentz derided attempts of the defense to link Hauptmann's friend, the late Isidor Fisch, to the crime. In New York, James M. Fawcett, defense counsel, announced that he had obtained a statement from Millard Whitte's brother, Edward, that the two had been together constantly near Hopewell during the time prior to and after the kidnaping and that neither had seen any strangers near the Lindbergh home.

LABOR BOARD ATTEMPTS TO SETTLE STRIKE

The labor group included James Wilson, former National Federation of Labor vice president; Thomas S. Farrell, secretary of the Cleveland Federation of Labor, and representatives of the individual unions involved in the fight. These include the teamsters, bakers, clerks and managers, auto mechanics, metal trades, butchers and cutters.

Ralph A. Lind, chairman of the Cleveland Regional Labor board, who has sought unsuccessfully to mediate the trouble, and Arthur L. Faulkner, labor department conciliator, were also expected.

Lind has a six-point peace plan which he hopes may be the basis of composing the differences. Details of the plan have been guarded.

The labor board, without a chairman due to the resignation of Lloyd Garrison, moved into the fight after charges had been made by Pres. William Green of the American Federation of Labor that the rights of labor under the recovery act were being trespassed by the A. and P.

Green said he had been in constant touch with the Cleveland situation and that it was "serious."

There was considerable mystification here as to just how serious the company was in its intention to withdraw from Cleveland.

BREAK NEAR IN NAVAL PARLEY, REPORTS SHOW

Official comment on reports that this prospect had been pointed out to the Japanese by the U. S. delegation at the London naval conversations was lacking, but the plans have been well known here.

Navy officials have considered fortifications of at least four strategic bases in the Pacific and are believed ready to proceed with the plans should the treaties go into the discard.

The first fortifications probably would be erected at Dutch Harbor, Alaska. Dutch Harbor is about half way between Asia and America, close to the well-traveled great circle route to the Orient. It is ice free the year around and is considered adapted to all purpose for a strategic naval base.

Navy activity has centered around these recently. Submarines visited the spot last summer as did naval patrol planes.

Other developments likely would be started at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, Corregidor in the Philippines and the naval station at American Samoa.

The Philippines and Samoa bases would protect a fleet operating in the Western Pacific.

By the Washington naval treaty, the United States agreed not to increase fortifications in the Pacific.

The American position was understood to be that the Washington and other treaties sought to set up conditions under which no Pacific nation would have much chance of successful attack on another. Should the treaties be thrown overboard and Japan persist in her intention of building up her fleet, fortifications would be necessary to preserve the balance, it was held.

CROWN POINT JAILERS FACE MURDER COUNT

Investigating poor relief administration and selected Detective Sergt. Sander Singer of the Hammond police department to aid him.

Singer was with Barce and the state police when Baker and Blunk were taken away today.

Technically they were not under arrest but Barce said arrests would be made shortly.

The payoff of $1800 for Dillinger's break after his return to Indiana from Tucson, Ariz., was arranged through the same syndicate that controlled bootlegging in Lake county before repeal of prohibition, the investigators claimed.

Blunk and Sam Cahoon, a guard at the jail, were arrested last spring after a grand jury investigation. Blunk was acquitted on charges of aiding Dillinger and the charges against Cahoon were dropped for lack of evidence.

The investigation revealed, according to the United Press' information, that Dillinger wanted to be rescued by an outside gang. This was overruled by a Chicago attorney who felt that such an attempt would fail because of the heavy guard thrown around the jail.

It was decided, the investigators claimed, that it would be an inside job.

The payoff, investigators said, was arranged at three meetings in a Gary saloon and arrangements were made for blue prints of the jail to be turned over to the Chicago attorney.

KINGSFORD-SMITH AWAITING FAVORABLE WEATHER BEFORE CONTINUING FLIGHT TO L. A.

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 30.—(UP)—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australian flier blazing new transoceanic trails, found himself in the middle of a hot controversy today between two California areas seeking to be the first to see "The Lady Southern Cross" on completion of the west-to-east trans-Pacific flight.

Shortly after arriving here yesterday, concluding a 3100-mile flight from the Fiji Islands, the Australian announced he would remain here for several days awaiting more favorable weather and then would take off "for Los Angeles."

His decision aroused a storm of protests in the San Francisco bay area, from which he had set out in 1928 in making his east-to-west crossing from California to Australia. They, too, had arranged receptions in his honor and had planned a civic welcome, cablegrams received here said.

The aviator indicated that weather conditions probably will make it necessary for him to fly to Los Angeles.

"The weather people tell me there's a bad storm sweeping down from Alaska and if I head for San Francisco I may bump into it," read one of the cablegrams sent Californians.

"It may all depend on how the weather is when I take off."

Sir Charles and Capt. P. G. Taylor, his navigator, rested today after the 24-hour, 45-minute unbroken flight from Nasalea Beach.

ANAHEIM TO PLAY HOST TO 50,000 PERSONS AT ANNUAL OBSERVANCE OF HALLOWE'EEN

In costume in keeping with the spirit of the festival, Judge Holden has announced that penalties will be severe and enforcement certain.

As an innovation this year entertainment has been arranged for the afternoon through presentation of a horse show at the city park, on the ball grounds. This show will be directed by R. W. MacBeth, assisted by Dean Love and Ted Hansen. This show will start at 1:30 p. m. and will be free of charge.

The horse show and mounted division of the parade have attracted more than 500 entries.

Included in the list of events for the horse show will be a women's in and out race, polo game, orange race, stock horse class for men, novelty race for men, showing flat saddle class, gaited horses, calf roping, trick roping by Monty Montana and a mixed stake race. The polo game will be played between the other events with chukkers scheduled at intervals to permit the horses ample rest.

SOCIAL CREDIT PLAN ATTACKED BY RAY HAIGHT

"Tonight I want to complete my discussion of my program for the development of the right to work on the part of all the unemployed by comparing it briefly with those of Mr. Merriam and Mr. Sinclair. My proposal, carried into effect, will result in enabling every employable person in California to have purchasing power available for any convenience which he may reasonably desire. I do not believe that it has yet occurred to the followers of Mr. Sinclair that his program limits those who might take advantage of the same as to prevent them from having any of the modern conveniences which make life worth while. For instance, few, if any, electrical appliances would be available to them. California has neither the raw resources nor the ownership of patent rights essential to the manufacture of radios, washing machines, vacuum cleaners or automobiles. These are but a few of the things that the followers of Mr. Sinclair must permanently deny themselves. There is no occasion for these sacrifices because under my program it will be possible for them to produce all that they are now hoping to produce, and in addition shall have the purchasing power to buy that which they themselves cannot produce."

"Mr. Merriam today published the most astounding document ever purported to have been written by a high public official on an economic subject. The document was published at length in the newspapers throughout California. It purports to discuss Major Douglas' theory of social credits. Yet it is quite evident that he hasn't the slightest conception of what that means. This is partially evidenced by the statement in which he says: 'My twenty-four million dollar bond issue is a step in this direction. But it is only a step.' I think we all pretty well recognize that Mr. Merriam has always thought in the terms of Mark Hanna. None of us has expected him to go back to the days of Mark Hanna. Anthony was one of the leaders in suggesting a food dole as a means of placating the populace. What actually happened is now ancient history."

"A program developing social credits, stimulating purchasing power, can only be developed on a national basis. When this is done, we must fix a definite group of whom this credit shall flow. May I repeat that this explains why I have been supporting the Townsend Plan of Old Age Revolving Pensions. It is the surest means I know of bringing before the people recognition of the fact that the real problem which confronts the nation lies in the field of purchasing power, rather than in the field of production. There is not the slightest doubt but what it is possible for us to have plenty for all who desire to work for it in America."

DOKE TRIAL OPENS IN WOODLAND TODAY

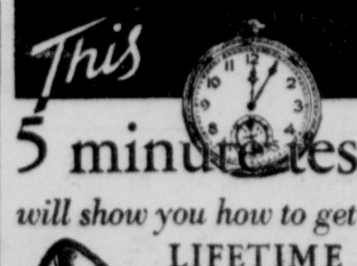

WOODLAND, Cal., Oct. 30.—(UP)—A hundred men and women of the soil crowded into a tiny courtroom today to await selection of a jury that will decide whether or not Judson C. Doke was justified in slaying Lamar Hollingshead, 23, post-paramour of Helen Louise Doke.

The prospective jurors filled the 80 seats ordinarily reserved for spectators, and 20 of them were forced to stand along the sides of the room.

LEAGUE HOLDS PARTY

LA HABRA, Oct. 30.—Thirty young people from the Junior League of the La Habra M. E. church held a Halloween party recently at a deserted house on Telegraph road.

"Halloweeners" were Jack Hilbert, Jackie Roberts, John Conner, Jimmie Lauer and Clarence Scott, who arrived at the house before the guests are prepared and noise makers to go with the spook story told by the Rev. H. O. Simmons.

From then on his career was devoted to the American stage and screen, and he appeared in a succession of roles, playing the typical stage Adonis, and was the personification of male perfection to thousands of women theatergoers.

But his star ultimately dimmed, and from his eminence Tellegen dropped to obscurity. His last stage appearance was in a minor part in "The Lady Refuses" in New York about a year ago.

In Hollywood

Six months ago his declining days were brightened by an offer to appear in the Fox picture, "Caravan," and he came to Hollywood, only to fall ill and to lose the part. He did get a small role in "Call to Arms" at Columbia, which he completed a few weeks ago.

Ill and alone, Tellegen was befriended by Mrs. Cuddeh, as she befriended Tod Sloan, once world-famous jockey. Sloan also died in her home, a year ago, embittered by misfortune.

Last March Tellegen was operated on in an attempt to relieve the cancer. His convalescence was slow, and at no time did he have hope of full recovery. His weight dropped from 180 to 150 pounds.

GUY OUTLINES REASONS FOR AIDING McKINNEY

City Attorney Elmer R. Guy, of Brea, told a radio audience last evening that he withdrew as a candidate for district attorney during the primary campaign, and turned his support to B. Z. McKinney, because "I thoroughly believe the program he represents is best for the citizens of Orange county."

Guy stressed McKinney's pledge to prosecute drunk-driving cases as felonies instead of misdemeanors, in a move to check this growing form of crime and menace to society; his stand against the public gamblers; and his promise to save taxpayers money by eliminating private practice from the district attorney's office.

McKinney himself spoke briefly, following Guy's address, reading a letter one of his La Habra supporters had addressed to the La Habra newspaper, protesting the use of the city's equipment by certain city officials to promote the private political interests of District Attorney Kaufman.

The letter, which pointed out that one of Kaufman's deputies is also city attorney of La Habra, referred to use of the city's addressograph machine and its mailing list of water users, to circulate post cards signed by certain city officials, urging support for the district attorney.

"It is certainly something new in politics for city officials to use city-owned property for the purpose of helping the political fortunes of a candidate who is their own personal choice," the letter said.

Elmer Guy explained that he and McKinney had been campaigning on nearly identical platforms in the primary and since it appeared that the vote of those who stood for better law enforcement might thus be divided, he withdrew in favor of a man who was better known and therefore might be presumed to have a better chance for election. McKinney, said Guy, is an "honest, able, conscientious lawyer and gentleman who will make a good public official."

Referring to double income in the district attorney's office, as provided by private practice, Guy pointed out that such practice had been recently barred by the Ventura county supervisors in that county; that San Bernardino county forbids it, and while that is a larger county than Orange, the district attorney there handles the work with only three deputies, while Kaufman has five here.

Guy pictured the possible complications if it became necessary for the district attorney to prosecute a private client. He also referred laughingly to the fact that he has saved the district attorney's office $300,000 in defense of civil suits against the county. Lawyers, Guy said, always sue for fantastic sums, expecting to get little if anything. The district attorney merely added up these fantastic sums to get his total, the speaker said.

LIQUOR DEALER FINED FOR SALE TO MINORS; YOUTHS MAY FACE PROSECUTION

Three major developments in the case of the eight youths who bought liquor from the Independent Ice House on North Main street and caused charges of liquor sales to minors to be brought against the owner, revived interest in the affair today.

Ray Stapp posted a $300 appeal bond in police court yesterday, following a sentence of a $300 fine or 100 days in jail imposed by Judge J. G. Mitchell.

The four boys and four girls have been turned over to probation authorities for probable prosecution in the juvenile court.

The city council last night ordered City Clerk Ed Vegely to send the result of the trial and the evidence against Stapp to the state board of equalization.

In view of Stapp's intention to appeal the case, the council did not make any recommendation to the state board but merely requested that the court information be sent to notify the officials of the conviction. It is expected that Stapp's liquor license will be revoked, since there was no attempt to deny that liquor had been sold to minors, in direct violation of the liquor control act.

The police department has turned the case of the eight youths over to prohibition authorities, following the claim of the officers that some of the minors failed to tell the truth on the witness stand concerning the purchase of liquor on the night of October 6, preceding a liquor party.

According to the testimony of the four boys, they each furnished liquor to the girls, which provides grounds for charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors, police said. The four girls, three of whom attend the Santa Ana high school and one the Orange high school, admitted drinking the liquor and provided grounds for charging them with being delinquents, officers declare.

Stapp was found guilty in 30 minutes by a jury last Friday. After posting the appeal bond, he has 10 days in which to file a written appeal with the court.

George Tarris, brother-in-law of Stapp who was originally cited in the same complaint, was found not guilty by the jury after instructions had been given by the court and both attorneys.

Robert Hossack, Garden Grove, paid a $5 speeding fine in police court yesterday.

Joe Barba pleaded not guilty to an assault and battery charge in police court yesterday, waived a jury and had his trial set for tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Charged with drunkenness, Rudolph Romero was certified to the juvenile court and Frank Rios was committed to the county jail for 71-2 days when they were taken before Police Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday.

Camille Ghysels, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was arraigned yesterday in the Anaheim justice court, had his preliminary hearing set for November 15 and was released from jail on $1000 cash bond.

Raymond Osborne, 20, Placentia, concluding a 10 day sentence for violation of the motor vehicle act, was rebuked at the county jail yesterday on a warrant from La Habra for disturbing the peace.

Noble Dewey Zint, 33, 203 Cypress avenue, sentenced to 50 days for drunkenness, and Salvador Endiquez, 18, sentenced to 50 days for drunken driving, were booked at the jail yesterday by Anaheim police.

ANTI-LOITERING ORDINANCE IS EFFECTIVE NOW

Final passage was given to an anti-loitering ordinance by the city council last night, which was instituted in September to curb disorder and congestion around dance halls, beer parlors and other gathering places. The new ordinance becomes effective at once and was approved as an emergency ordinance by the council. The first section states that it is unlawful for any person to loiter or to stand or sit in or upon any public highway, alley, sidewalk, or cross walk, so as to in any manner hinder or obstruct the free passage therein of persons or vehicles passing along same, or so as in any manner to annoy or molest persons on the street.

Another section of the ordinance prohibits persons from loitering, standing, or sitting in the hall of a theater, hall or public assembly.

Violating the terms of the ordinance is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $100 or imprisonment in jail for 30 days or both. City Attorney Clyde Downing stated that first reading of the ordinance was given on September 17.

Health League Praises Register In Resolution

A resolution commending the Santa Ana Register for its "fairness and apparent understanding of the questions involved" in Amendments 9 and 17, was authorized by the California Public Health League, Orange county division, at a meeting of the group at the county hospital chapel last evening.

The meeting was attended by various members of the professions of dentistry, pharmacy, nursing, optometry, medicine and surgery, chiropody, as well as laymen, who are engaged in the campaign to defeat the chiropractic and naturopath initiatives.

Dr. Glenn Curtis, of Brea, chairman of the Orange County Division, presided over the meeting, and introduced speakers. Campaign organization plans were laid at the meeting. The resolution commending The Register editor resulted from a report to the meeting by Dr. H. A. Johnston, of Anaheim, calling attention to a recent editorial in The Register discussing the two amendments.

SERA Head Halts Distribution Of Merriam Leaflets

Reports of survey men working on the better housing program in Santa Ana distributing Merriam political literature along with federal better housing act literature, today brought orders from Director Terrance Halloran of the Orange county SERA to immediately discharge any person found to be distributing the literature.

In the northern part of Santa Ana yesterday it was found that a man was distributing pamphlets urging the election of Merriam as governor with better housing literature.

Halloran said that it was not known that the distribution of political literature was being made, and that it would be stopped at once. Distribution of political literature is against the rules of SERA, he said, and any person doing this will be discharged immediately.

ENFORCEMENT OF GAMBLING LAWS AUTHORIZED BY CITY COUNCIL AT NEWPORT BEACH

The expected anti-gambling ordinance for Newport Beach did not materialize at last night's meeting of the city council, but a resolution granting special powers to the police committee of the council for the purpose of curbing the activities of games of chance in the city was introduced and passed.

NEWSMAN FROM CHINA VISITS KIN IN ORANGE

Calvin Hirsch, dramatic and motion picture critic of the staff of the Shanghai North China Daily News, has been a guest in the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Livernash, South Tustin avenue, Orange, since Saturday. He has been in Hollywood for a short time acting in an advisory capacity in the production of a film where scenes in the Orient are depicted.

Communism is sweeping both China and Japan, the newspaper man declares. Hirsch was a former instructor at Yale and Reed college, Portland, Ore., at a previous period. He was accompanied to America by his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Olga Fedorovitch, daughter of Admiral Fedorovitch, officer serving under the Czar.

The young couple were married in Harbin, Manchuria, where Fedorovitch family sought refuge from the Russian revolutionists. The Ad-Ad-Ad family having been separated for four years without knowing each other's whereabouts. Mr. and Mrs. Hirsch left yesterday for San Francisco, where they will sail for China. They were accompanied north by M. Leblond, prominent Russian refugee of San Francisco, who has been visiting with them in the south.

City Council To Attend Air Fleet Maneuvers Sunday

All members of the city council, headed by Mayor E. G. Warner on the reception committee, will attend the air fleet maneuvers of the Los Angeles sheriff's office aerial squadron on Sunday afternoon at Eddie Martin's airport, it was revealed last night.

The council received an invitation to attend from Sheriff Logan Jackson, who explained that the purpose of the exhibition was to show the new weapon of law enforcement and rapid transportation. The Los Angeles fleet of 25 planes and the Goodyear blimp will visit San Bernardino, Riverside and Santa Ana on Sunday, arriving here about 3 p.m.

Councilman William Penn, a member of the committee on arrangements, explained the various features of the demonstration, which is under the direction of Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz of Los Angeles. When a poll was taken as to those who would attend, all the councilmen and many other city officials signified their intention of going.

COUNCIL NOTES

The application of J. W. Barnett, 1064 West First street, to build a five-car garage at that address was continued for one week by the planning commission last night.

Harvey Greenleaf, 24, 213 East Pine street, and Thomas E. Davis, 23, 2689 North Main street, were granted permits as taxi drivers by the city council last night.

G. Garrett, 1609 Louise street, sought permission from the city council to build an addition to a glass greenhouse on his property, but the application was denied on recommendation of the planning commission.

BOARD ACTS TO RESTORE BADGE TO LOCKHART

Following a thorough investigation by the police department, district attorney's office and city attorney, the city council last night, following the recommendation of Chief Floyd Howard, reinstated Frank Lockhart as a special police officer without pay.

Lockhart was suspended on Howard's recommendation several weeks ago, following a fight involving Lockhart and another man at Chestnut and Main streets, during which the officer fired his revolver. No one was hurt by the bullet and the officer was criticized for shooting, although he contended the other man attacked him.

Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner conducted the investigation of the affair. Howard told the council at the time of the suspension that the measure was being taken only during the investigation, and should it be found that there was insufficient blame attached to Lockhart to merit his permanent removal from the police department, his commission would be restored.

Lockhart is employed as a merchant policeman on South Main street and had his badge returned following the vote of the council. The motion to reinstate the watchman was made by Councilman Plummer Bruns.

BOURBONS TO HEAR TALK ON SINCLAIR

The Rev. Lura Gallagher of Long Beach, who has been heard many times over radio programs, will appear in person tonight at the Democratic headquarters, Bush and Third streets, to speak on "Sinclair the Humanitarian," on a program which will begin at 8. Democratic headquarters today announced that precinct organization is about completed with "majors" in charge of every six precincts throughout the county, a "captain" in charge of every precinct and several workers or "lieutenants" to act as watchers at the polls.

Extra preparations are being made to care for a large crowd for the Sheridan Downey, lieutenant governor, meeting on Thursday night. Special parties are coming to Santa Ana from all over the county.

"GOING HOME TO A WARM HOUSE? AN EVENING'S WARMTH COSTS LESS THAN THE MAGAZINE IN YOUR POCKET"

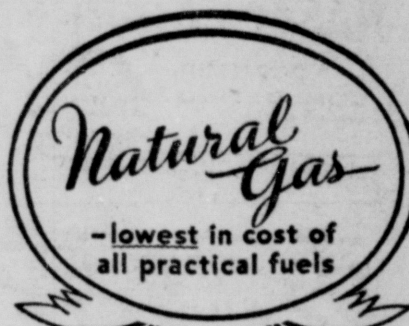

Which would you rather pay 10c for—a magazine to read in a cold house, or warm rooms in which to spend the evening comfortably doing anything?

That's a true illustration of the small cost of natural gas for house heating in Southern California. It is based on accurate statistics showing that the average expenditure for heating, by nearly a million users of gas, is between seven and eight cents a day—during the coolest six months of the year.

Indoor comfort in winter is so insignificant an item of household expense that you needn't be concerned about the cost of making your house heating arrangements perfect. Perhaps another small gas heater will do it—ask your dealer or gas company to inspect your heating equipment now.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

Laguna Beach, California,
October 18, 1934.

Mr. J. Frank Burke,
Editor, Santa Ana Register,
Santa Ana, California.

Dear Mr. Burke:

For most of the last twelve years I have been a constant reader and a subscriber to the Santa Ana Register. Day before yesterday I was attacked through your columns by one Mr. Don Wilkie and accused of being a party to dropping him from our Chamber of Commerce in an effort to injure him for political purposes. Since the attack was made upon me through your columns, I desire that you convey to Mr. Wilkie, through your columns, my reply—which is—that his accusation concerning me is wholly false.

I am not a director of the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce and have not been since Mr. Wilkie has been its president. I am a member, and was present at the meeting when Mr. Wilkie—because of continued absences for which no excuse was given—was dropped as a director and as an officer. This action was in accordance with the by-laws of the Chamber. I took absolutely no part in the meeting and was present only as a spectator. The only person who took part in the meeting aside from the Directors was the Publicity Agent of the Chamber.

May I say further that this is not the first or the only time that Directors have been dropped because of non-attendance? In fact, at this same meeting one of the other Directors was dropped for the same reason. However, it is the first time that a Director so chastened has not taken his spanking like a man. It seems to me that Mr. Wilkie is the person who has tried to pull a "cheap political trick" and attempted to create sympathy for himself by misrepresentation.

I would like to ask Mr. Wilkie a few questions: Is it not true, Mr. Wilkie, that the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce officials last spring, under your leadership, started out to raise a publicity fund of $1100 and promised that no part of this fund would be used unless it was ALL raised? Is it not true that you failed to raise this money from the merchants and business men, and as a last resort you pledged $190 to complete the fund? Is it not also true that at the time you were dropped as a Director and an Officer you had not paid one single penny on this pledge? Is it not true that the Publicity Man whom you hired has also been your campaign publicity director and that much of the publicity which he has gotten out for you has been written at the Chamber of Commerce, on Chamber of Commerce time, at the expense of the local merchants and business men? Is this kind of thing your idea of the tactics that should be employed by a public official or by one seeking public office? And one further question I would ask, which is true—for they do not agree, and one of them must be false—which is the truth about your secret service experience, your sworn testimony at your own bankruptcy trial or your campaign propaganda?

Yours for clean politics and honest public officials,

(Signed) G. E. THOMPSON.

The above was written immediately after and in answer to the published statement of Mr. Wilkie. Since it has not been published as news in the same columns which printed Mr. Wilkie's statement as news, it is now being printed as a paid advertisement in the interest of fair play.

WILKIE GIVES REVIEW AND ASKS QUESTION

Capt. Don Wilkie, candidate for sheriff of Orange county, in a talk to the voters last night over radio KREG, commented on plans by his opponents to again attack his service record.

"I have based my qualifications to your sheriff's office," Captain Wilkie declared, "upon 12 specific government positions. The planned publicity can hardly be said to actually attack my record. But it does refer to just four of the 12. One says that the state department records show nothing of my service in it. My answer is that they would not possibly show it for two reasons. One was that I was assigned to the case by Captain Jackson of the American Embassy in Paris and therefore it was not direct assignment out of, but only for the state department."

"The second reason the records would not be publicized is that the assignment involved an investigation of the loyalty of an attaché of the American Embassy at Madrid. That was highly confidential."

"The next is from the war department, but even it admits that I was commissioned as a captain, attached to Military Intelligence, ORC, for 10 years. That is two commissions—by two presidents. My opponent releases it because it remarks inactivity. My answer is that Colonel Graham, U. S. Army, Sixth Corps Area, will testify I was plenty active, in fighting things un-American."

"Again the criticism falls flat because the Department of Justice corroborates my claims. I was never and nor have I claimed to be of its agents. But I was appointed to unravel the land frauds of Colorado in 1907—after the Department of Justice had been defeated in a like effort. Naturally my opposition in my race here would not broadcast the fact that while I functioned on one of the D. of J. cases, I did it as a Secret Service man and not as a Department of Justice man."

"The fourth and last needs no reply except perhaps to say that the Navy Department admits in its stilted and formal language that I did perform certain services. The released statement remarks I retained my civilian status, which again corroborates my previous statements that I did so serve."

Captain Wilkie pointed out that statements made regarding his record taken from letters from government departments, were only excerpts, remarking that the entire letters, if published might mean something else.

The threat of organized crime coming into Orange county, Captain Wilkie said, as evidenced by gambler's operations, must be met by vigorous, impartial law enforcement by trained and experienced officers in an administration free from the hampering influence of politics.

In a second broadcast Wilkie asked a pointed question of Sheriff Jackson concerning an affidavit he said he had been informed Jackson had, and which he said named a certain man, now supporting Jackson, as a "fixer" for law violators.

CULINARY ARTIST

Miss Nina G. Abbey, below, noted home economist of the Southern California and Arizona Association of Ice Industries, will conduct cooking schools at Veterans hall from 2 to 4 p. m. daily on November 7, 8 and 9. The cooking schools are sponsored by the Santa Ana Ice company, Diamond Ice company, Home Ice company and the Grand Central Market.

Service man and not as a Department of Justice man.

ELECTION OF LEACH URGED BY ATTORNEY

Urging the election of Hunter Leach for constable of Orange county, Ira F. Kroese, local attorney, in a talk last night over KREG, declared that the office of constable of Santa Ana township can no longer be viewed by those seeking election to it as a mere job, but as an office which requires a man with experience, training and ability to cope with the responsibilities.

"It is for that reason," he said, "that I speak in behalf of the candidacy of Hunter Leach, a man who is well qualified to fill this important office and who deserves the consideration of every voter in this township. Hunter Leach has served in public office in one capacity or another ever since 1923 and has been a resident of this city since 1923."

"Outside of the qualifications of Hunter Leach, insofar as experience is concerned, I feel that his past record shows him to be a man of high ideals, of good moral character and honest in all of his personal transactions. During the past years, he has served in one capacity or another as an officer of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion, and is a past commander of that post. He is a member of the Presbyterian church, and is a man that has always stood for the best things in his community. Your ballot for Hunter Leach in the November 8 election will be greatly appreciated by him, and I am certain that his election will insure to the people of this township, a satisfactory and capable administration."

The speaker outlined the growing and involved duties of the constable's office which make it necessary to have an experienced and qualified man as constable. He told of Leach's record or training which he said fits him for the office.

HOLD HOUSEWARMING

IRVINE, Oct. 30.—Friends of Mr. and Mrs. August Lofgren met at their home on an evening recently at a housewarming. Mr. Lofgren presented the prizes, which were awarded to Mrs. Walter Sellers, high, Mrs. Ted Cox, second; Noy Penman, high, and Walter Sellers, second. Refreshments of Sandwiches, salad and coffee were served the members, who were Mr. and Mrs. Penman, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Knoche, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sellers, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cox, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Lofgren.

Public Health Activities Listed For City Council

Activities of the county health department in supervising Santa Ana's health needs were shown in the third quarter report received by the city council last night from Dr. K. H. Sutherland, health director, which covered the months of July, August and September.

The lengthy reports gave in detail the functions of the health department for the quarter and for the year to date. Under the division of diseases, there were 147 visits made and 892 to date. There were 227 contacts made with 1301 to date, 61 suspects visited, with 213 to date, and 113 miscellaneous visits, and 317 to date.

There were 210 laboratory inspections made, with 1508 to date this year. Under the tuberculosis control division, the report gave 15 new cases reported, with 40 to date this year, and 33 cases discharged during the quarter. There were 743 cases visited.

Sanitary inspectors received 52 complaints and made 117 meat market examinations, making 461 to date.

CITY WILL BE REPRESENTED IN BIG PARADE

As in former years, the Santa Municipal band will be the only official representative of the city in the Armistice parade, being staged this year in Huntington Beach on November 12.

The city council decided last night that since nearly $200 was being appropriated to send the band to the parade, no further funds were available to build a float. The decision was prompted by a suggestion from the parade committees that Santa Ana enter a float symbolical of the principle of democracy.

It was pointed out that the Municipal band had dropped one concert from the summer band concerts in Birch park so that funds would be available for the parade.

Seal Beach Post In Dance Tonight

SEAL BEACH, Oct. 30.—Members of Anaheim Bay post of the American Legion will hold their annual Halloween party and dance at the Jewell Inn this evening, with the public invited to participate, it was announced today by T. L. Burns, commander.

YOST PLEDGES CURTAILMENT OF EXPENSES

Interested taxpayers who pay directly or indirectly the money which is taken in by the county recorder's office were informed by Harold Yost, candidate for county recorder, last night over KREG that while 97 per cent of the revenue in the recorder's office is from Orange county citizens, the reverse is true in the case of expenditures made by the office.

Pointing out that none of the money spent outside of Orange county for supplies purchased by the recorder's office comes back here to help business, Yost declared that the Orange county recorder's office buys but three per cent of its supplies in this county and 97 per cent outside.

"And when I say outside," Yost said, "I mean even outside of Southern California, for this money of ours goes to San Francisco and all to one firm there. If it were impossible to get these supplies here no one would object, am sure. So in order to arrive at a plausible solution to such an apparently unlovely purchasing attitude a thorough investigation was made. It was found that all these supplies could not only be purchased here in Orange county, but that in most cases could actually be printed, bound, or otherwise made here and that this could be done for the same or even less money than was being paid."

Yost called attention to a check made in other counties. He said he found that in the past four years, after a new regime, but $25 had been spent by the recorder's office of Riverside county outside of its own county. He said that expenses of the Orange county recorder's office are mounting each year.

He pledged himself to curtail steadily growing expenditures without decreasing the number of deputies or salaries and without impairing the efficiency of the office; to treat everyone equally well without special privileges for any, and to employ persons with dependents.

Dollar Loss of Unemployment

There are 1,250,000 unemployed and destitute people in California. At 50 cents per day each the cost to keep them in idleness is $600,000 per day. $228,000,000 per year is the present cost of Republican—Merriam—Reactionary Short-sightedness. 500,000 of this group are workers and can produce goods to the value of $4.00 per day each (a reasonable amount). This group will produce per day $2,000,000, and per year $600,000,000. Add present cost to this and you have $828,000,000, the staggering sum you will lose under the present set up.

ALL LOST BECAUSE THEY ARE KEPT IDLE. . . This must come out of taxes. WHO PAYS THE TAXES?

They Are Telling You Lies About Upton Sinclair

The Press of California is against Mr. Sinclair. That means it's against most of YOU. So are the old-line politicians, regardless of party. So are the banks, trust companies, utilities, corporations, capitalists and big business generally. They are putting up the money. They are the only ones who have the money. They control the press. They make it lie to you. They are spending millions to elect Merriam. It is an INVESTMENT for them, an investment to pay dividends—to them. It will, they think, pay them personally and as institutions. If not, why are they doing it, being business people?

HERE ARE SOME OF THEIR LIES:

THEY SAID that Mr. Sinclair quoted Father Coughlin as endorsing him. That is a LIE. THE TRUTH is that Mr. Sinclair reported Father Coughlin as endorsing the EPIC plan. THEY SAID that Mr. Sinclair reported Mr. Ickes as promising to finance the Central Valley project. THE TRUTH is that Mr. Sinclair reported Mr. Ickes as promising to reconsider the matter. THEY TOLD George Creel that Upton Sinclair was not supporting the Democratic Platform. THE TRUTH is that Upton Sinclair is campaigning on the Democratic Platform which includes statements in regard to "Production for USE" and "Ending Poverty in California." This is the EPIC PLAN WHICH GEORGE CREEL HELPED TO WRITE INTO THE PLATFORM. THEY SAID that Mr. Sinclair reported President Roosevelt as supporting him and the EPIC Plan. THE TRUTH is that Mr. Sinclair has made no statement regarding subject matter of his two-hour conversation with the President at Hyde Park.

REMEMBER THIS ON ELECTION DAY

Mr. Sinclair has won FOUR DISTINCT VICTORIES. VICTORY NO. 1—Putting the Democratic Party in first place in California for the first time by registration alone. VICTORY NO. 2—Winning the primary Aug. 28 by the largest vote ever given a gubernatorial candidate. VICTORY NO. 3—The flying visit East, making the EPIC plan known to the world, bringing it favorably before the Federal government. VICTORY NO. 4—The EPIC Plan included in the Democratic Party platform for California. THE FIFTH VICTORY will come NOV. 8.

Consider These Endorsements—

MR. JAMES A. FARLEY WRITES: "By electing Upton Sinclair, your popular candidate for Governor, California will have a combination of leaders in Washington and Sacramento who can co-operate in the best interests of the people of the state and nation."

METHODIST PREACHERS MEETING committee reports, early in October, "Thus in categorical fashion, without the least semblance of ambiguity, Upton Sinclair declares his belief in a personal God; confesses his devotion and loyalty to Jesus and pays his tribute to the Church and Christian Method."

30,000 WAR VETERANS have enlisted in the State War Veterans Committee for Upton Sinclair and Sheridan Downey, reports Capt. Floyd A. Eades, with an Auxiliary of 16,000, membership growing at the rate of 1,000 a day.

MORE THAN 700 UNIONS in addition to the California Federation of Labor, four railway brotherhoods and their Ladies Auxiliaries, Los Angeles Amusement Federation (studio crafts and musicians), a dozen central labor councils of California, and many other labor organizations have endorsed Sinclair and Downey.

CONSIDER THIS

Intimidation, outright coercion, lies—these are the weapons of the Planless Merriam Vote Baiters. It'll cost you money to believe them.

Mr. Sinclair's Planned Economy for California will lower your taxes, Mr. Small Home Owner and Farm Owner; it will give you work, Mr. Unemployed; it will bring you business, Mr. Merchant.

DO NOT BE INTIMIDATED—VOTE FOR YOURSELF.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Bernard W. Bierman says the current Minnesota varsity is the most powerful he ever coached, but not the fastest, nor the most polished.

"For example," explains Coach Bierman, "no member of this season's Minnesota squad would make a college track team. Our speed is well distributed, however."

Bierman must have handled some flyers in his 19 years as a football strategist, for none of the Gophers, as large as they are, ran as though he had a man on his back in the Pittsburgh party.

Stanley Kostka, the fullback, negotiated the century in 10 flat in high school. He scarcely is any slower now, for all of his 210 pounds. Yet Kostka doesn't make any of his teammates appear to be standing still.

Bierman asserts that the 1934 Minnesota team is not as speedy as the unbeaten and untied Tulane club he took to the Pasadena Rose Bowl and which succumbed to Southern California, 21-12, after a brilliant stand on New Year's day, 1932.

"But that Tulane team averaged only 170 pounds," elucidates the Gopher strategist.

FASTER EACH SEASON
Football is vastly improved over what it was when he stood out at halfback for the Gophers under the late Dr. Henry L. Williams, in 1913, '14 and '15, according to Bierman.

"The season is obvious," he declares, "more men out more intense, closer application, and natural advancement."

"Football becomes faster each season."

Minnesota teams are not likely to be charged with being beautiful, but dumb, as long as the soft-spoken Bernie Bierman is around. He is one of the brightest of football minds. He is a credit to his profession—the kind of a coach you'd like to have teach your boy.

INGRAM NEWEST TARGET
When an institution requires $300,000 annually to supply diversification, its football array must offer spectacular pageantry, as well as victory. Navy Bill Ingram's California squads have provided none of the former, and not too much of the latter.

There is great danger of gate receipts tumbling, and Don Glendon, of the San Francisco News, reports that the dollar sign is hanging once again on the goal posts at Memorial Stadium, Berkeley, twisting itself into grotesque shapes and saying in sepulchral tones to Ingram, "Your number is up!"

California, so mighty over a five-year stretch, under the late Andy Smith, last season succumbed to Santa Clara, Southern California and Stanford, and was tied by Washington State and U. C. L. A. St. Mary's and Washington have toppled California this autumn, and the Bears barely nosed out Amos Alonzo Stagg's little College of the Pacific, 7-6, and U. C. L. A., 8-0.

WANTED: SALES MANAGER
"Ingram's enemies say he is militaristic, arrogant, undiplomatic; that he plays favorites; that most of his football technique was found in the bulrushes with Moses," writes Glendon. "Yet Ingram could be Hitler, Mussolini, Simon Legee and 10 French hangersmen rolled into one if he was winning."

"Ingram's football technique was not of ancient vintage when he smashed U. S. C. and Stanford in his first year. It wasn't ancient last year when his team put on exhibition against U. S. C. and Stanford that were technically sound, but lacked the characteristics of self-expression and individualism in emergencies, over which Ingram had no control."

"But schools depending largely on football to support baseball, track, fencing, bands, bridge seminars, glee clubs, dramatics, debating, etc., want gridiron sales managers who get their quota and do blue-vase jobs."

Bill Ingram has been around long enough to know this, so shouldn't complain, as he has been doing.

PICTURE PUZZLE
You know what the technical adviser does in the making of motion pictures. He's the expert.

Well, the latest report around Hollywood is that Enzo Fiermonte, the witted collar-adviser in Max Baer's forthcoming movie.

Perhaps Mae West will next be asked to coach those Trojans out of their slump.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
Jean Pusie, the pugilistic hockey player relegated to the International league last season, will bob up in the National loop again this year as a member of the Boston Bruins.

Elmer Layden may expect some classy sophomore material at the University of Notre Dame in 1935. . . . There are 75 battling youngsters in the peacetime pack, or almost as many as there are on the varsity squad.

Jack Dempsey rejected $15,000 offered him for an Australian tour. . . . That's chicken feed to Dempsey. . . . And on top of that the old man Maxie is a poor seller. . . . New Bardet, Chicago sophomore, collects $2 from his father every time he scores a touchdown. . . . Bernie Bierman, the Minnesota coach, is left-handed.

Perris Jennings, the quarterbacking sophomore who ran a punt back 66 yards for the touchdown that gave Michigan a victory over Georgia Tech, was believed too small to play with the Wolverines. . . . He weighs 140.

PRINCETON OUT AS BOWL TEAM

DON BACKFIELD REVAMPED FOR CHAFFEY GAME

Drastic changes in Santa Ana Jaycee's backfield went into effect today, as Coach Bill Cook pointed his champion Dons toward their all-important football test with the Chaffey Panthers at the Municipal Bowl Saturday afternoon.

Searching for a fullback who can drive, Coach Cook indicated he would experiment with Walt Hickman, inside halfback, at Bob Mitchell's back position in drill this week, and transfer Mitchell to quarter, where he began the season. Hickman displayed surprising ability on drives from his inside half position against Citrus.

Loss of Dick Moore, Huntington Beach boy who pulled legaments over his right ankle at Citrus, may cause Cook to transfer Hal Pottier from running guard to fullback. Moore is definitely out of the next two games, but may not see action against Fullerton Thanksgiving Day.

Anderson In Suit
Favoring a badly bruised hip and a torn ligament in his right knee, Wilburn Anderson was in suit yesterday, but was unable to drill. The star quarterback regular's condition is uncertain, and the coaching staff is not banking on using him against Chaffey. Anderson's understudy, Freshman Bruce Harnois, is recovering from an infected leg. Major Anderson, another competent safety, returned to practice yesterday after a brief absence due to a bruised foot.

Bob Phipps turned in a great game at right half against Citrus, and is the only letterman certain to hold his regular position. Phipps will be replaced by Fred Erdhaus, a big freshman who will be sent into the lineup to do Santa Ana's long-distance passing. Erdhaus is one of the best tossers on the squad.

Walt Gunther, the brilliant passer, may be shifted from right end to quarter, where he played for Orange high school. Gunther and Paul Perinich, another letterman, have been alternating at right end and outside half.

Slavin Favors Leg Injury
Return of Sophomore Ben Slavin, who missed the Citrus contest on account of a leg infection, will aid the Dons Saturday. Although taking a vigorous workout yesterday, Slavin still is favoring the ailment, and it may be necessary to shift Wilson Seacord from second-string tackle to left end. Frank Kroener, 6'4" sophomore, looked great on offense at Azusa, and may win the starting position against Chaffey.

Cook thought his linemen played well against Coach Al Claves' stubborn Owls. He was particularly pleased with Ray Nowotny, 210-pound sophomore, at left tackle. Nowotny, also a standing guard, divided time with the steady Nelson Rogers at tackle. Sam Tucker and Loren Lukens, guards, and Charles Roemer, center, were entirely satisfactory.

Ernest Danielson, halfback, was given a chance at full Monday. If he and Hickman remain at back position, Ralph Comstock and Clyde Birdsong will be groomed for the inside half job.

COLUMBIA TO PLAY MICHIGAN IN 1935

Among the entrants will be Lucille Robinson, Mrs. L. D. Cheney, Mrs. Melvin Jones, Mrs. J. Woerner, "Buff" Abbott, Jane Douglas, Mrs. Mark Steele and other stars who participated in last week's tournament at Los Angeles.

"Y" BASKETBALL
Occupying the spotlight in the second round of Commercial league basketball, two undefeated quintets—Santa Ana Woolen Mills and Garlock's Service—collide on the Y. M. C. A. floor tonight, following a game between Goodyear Tires and Irvine at 7:30.

The winner of the Mills-Garlock conflict will share the lead with Ted Cook's All-Stars who won their first game from Goodyear, 41-27, last week. Cook's Service plays Union Oil Thursday night. Wayne Garlock's club, barely defeating Irvine 38-31 in the opener, will be the underdog against the Woolen Mills, although smooth teamwork may result in an upset. Lanky Fred Wiemer of the Mills is certain to get the tip-off from Ernie Acker.

CASH FOR I-O-HUEYS!

"Come and get it, boys," bellowed Senator Huey Long, and here he's shown demonstrating what he means by his "share the wealth" program. Passing out nearly $15,000 in $7 lots, Huey financed trips to Nashville for 1500 Louisiana State students and many others to see the L. S. U.-Vanderbilt football game. As the clamoring throng filed past, Huey handed out the money and accepted "I. O. Hueys" written on scraps of paper. Senator Long now is talking of a similar trip to the Pasadena Rose Bowl if L. S. U. goes through the rest of its schedule undefeated.

SPORT SCRIBE TURNS SLEUTH PUNISHMENT OFTEN FEIGNED

BY HENRY MCLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Wearing a leap through the nearest window, my favorite disguise, that of an unemployed sewer-off of sawed-off and run that four-minute mile the experts talk about. That is, if Doctor Fields doesn't get in the first lick.

So much for he mayhem. Now for the monkey business. Or rather, what looked like the monkey business to me. Shortly after Marshall and Shikat threw their fine, clean, lithe young bodies into the fray Shikat obtained the grip known to the experts as a combination leg split and toe hold. To make the hold clear to yourself, picture Marshall as a giant pair of scissors, with Shikat standing on one blade, and holding the other aloft and attempting to twist it off.

Under the rules, a wrestler may punish another with a hold until the victim yells quits. If no "quits" is forthcoming, the tormentor is perfectly within his rights in continuing the punishment until something breaks. Well, there stood the mighty Shikat, twisting and twisting. And then, a-grunting, and flailing his arms in misery.

I turned to Dr. William Walker of the state athletic commission, who was sitting next to me. "Doctor," I said, "if a man of Shikat's strength should suddenly twist that leg of Marshall's with all his strength, what would happen?"

"The match would end right away," he replied. "Even without exerting his power, Shikat could tear away all the ligaments and muscles in Marshall's legs." But Shikat didn't do it. He twisted so far, and no further. Finally, Marshall, with a superhuman effort that brought with it a mighty grunt. For a second he dragged the punished leg limply. Five seconds later he was bounding about on it like a striped zebra in love.

I say it's monkey business.

BRUINS TO TAKE NO CHANCE OF INJURIES 'RED' FRANKLIN IN O. E. S.—HUSKY GAME

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Facing the loss of manpower through injuries, Coach Bill Spaulding put his University of California at Los Angeles eleven through easy plays today in preparation for the Stanford game Saturday. Bob Barr, substitute guard, already is out of the game with a dislocated hip.

Remarking "we're only one and a half deep at each position," Spaulding said he would take no chances.

TROY HOPES TO GET GOING AGAINST CAL.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(UP)—The California game a week from Saturday was anticipated today as a chance for the University of Southern California to recoup some of its prestige. Trojans believe if they are going to beat any more teams at all this year the Bears will fall victims. The Trojans draw a bye this weekend.

Tomorrow will be the last day on which Santa Ana Country club members may qualify for their annual club championship classic. The event gets under way next Monday, with almost a hundred members "gunning" for Eddie Holmes, the six-times champion who is exempt from qualifying play. The associate members' tourney also has drawn a generous entry list.

Leaders to date include Bill Foote, 74-75-153; Warren Fletcher, 76-79-155; J. E. McDonald, 81-77-158; L. B. Robinson, 80-79-159; L. W. Bemis, 78-80-159; R. M. Chapman, 78-81-159; B. R. Mancker, 84-79-163; B. V. Curry, 76-87-163; R. O. Winkler, 163; Ralph Gray, 84-82-166; L. R. Kennedy, 88-78-166; F. E. Farnsworth, 83-84-167; A. A. May, 82-85-167.

Among low qualifiers in the associate members' tournament were Harry Olson, 85-83-171; Charles Brinson, 85-87-172; Pat Kelly, 86-86-172; R. W. Westcott, 85-85-173; Robert Korff, 83-91-174.

INGRAM HUNTS FOR SIXTY-MINUTE MEN

BERKELEY, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Bill Ingram of California set out today to find 11 Golden Bear football players who can play 60 minutes of football.

Ingram complains that his team plays its best only when it's behind and that when the score is tied or the Bears go ahead they let down. He's not too optimistic about California's chances against Santa Clara Saturday.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Stanford's unbeaten football squad went to work today with the understanding that on Saturday they meet a better team than U. S. C. in playing the U. C. L. A. Bruins at Los Angeles. The Bruins have a stronger attack and a more rugged defense than the once-dominant Trojans, scouts told Coach "Tiny" Thornhill.

VAN KALVEREN AND GARCIA IN RING GO
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Bep Van Kalveren, European welterweight, will meet Cefterio Garcia, idol of the Philippines, in Olympic stadium tonight.

Saints Buckle Down, Gird For Moor Game

Duly impressed with the seriousness of their task, Santa Ana's Saints buckled down today to four intensive practice sessions for Saturday's game at Alhambra, the one that can make or break their Coast league season.

If Coach Bill Foote's men bowl over Alhambra as they did Glendale last week, they will right in the thick of a championship race which would be decided by the Santa Ana-Long Beach contest here Nov. 17. Alhambra promises to be "tougher people" than Glendale, however. Reese Greene, assistant coach and Foote's chief scout, reports that the Moors have a smart running attack, interspersed with brilliant lateral passing.

The Saints will be at full strength despite minor injuries suffered by Fullback Dick White and Quarterback Ray Hamilton. Both were in suit yesterday. White was one of the Saint stars at Glendale.

The Alhambra conflict will be the Saints' fifth and final round tour of the season. The Foote-Hoover tussle Oct. 6, but men haven't played at home since have games listed here with Fullerton Nov. 9, Long Beach Nov. 17 and Pasadena Nov. 24.

DOZEN GIANTS ON BLOCK SAYS MANAGER TERRY

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Take it from Manager Bill Terry, the New York Giants are due for one of the most violent shakeups in baseball history.

Only Pitcher Carl Hubbell and Outfielder Mel Ott are safe, if Terry's plans are carried out. At least a dozen Giants are on the auction block right now, and the club is ready to spend $125,000 for new material.

That's what "Memphis Bill" said during a post-mortem over the erstwhile world champions. And he said a whole lot more too. He emphasized that the Giants did not lay down in the closing days of the pennant race.

"They were worn down from two years of top-speed playing," he said. "Moreover, it wasn't true that Schumacher and I had a fight, or that Hubbell didn't speak to me during the last month of the race. I don't care what the papers wrote. My men knew such stories weren't true. They're the only ones I cared about, next to the front office."

"I am still responsible for running the team and I don't need help from the newspapers. If they put me on the spot I can't help that."

What about that story that the Giants were considering trading Hubbell and $50,000 to the St. Louis Cardinals for "Dizzy" Dean?

"Why, that story makes me laugh. I wouldn't trade 'em even. I'll admit, however, 'Dizzy' and the other Dean too, are great pitchers."

Willard 'C' Team Loses To Grovers

TIGERS WOULD REFUSE BID TO PLAY ON COAST

BY JACK CUDDY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Eastern football writers have been busier than fan dancers among bumble bees recently telling just why Princeton probably would accept a bid to the Rose Bowl this season, if invited.

Princeton has a big-time football team, they explained, but the Tigers are playing to small-time crowds. Their athletic leaders are splashed with red; they would snatch at a big gob of Pasadena money; they are drifting away from the unwritten Big Three agreement banning post-season games, etc.

But all these dissertations were knocked into a tri-cornered chapeau last night when Burnham Dell, Princeton's director of athletics, announced through the United Press that his university definitely would not accept a Rose Bowl bid this year.

Makes Position Clear
Dell said: "Yes, I have heard many reports that we are considering accepting a Rose Bowl bid. So many, in fact, that I take this opportunity to announce definitely that Princeton will not accept such a bid—even if offered."

"I think we made our position clear on that subject last year. We have not changed. Our attitude is still the same toward the Big Three understanding, which does not approve inter-sectional games requiring long trips, nor post-season games."

Concerning money which the Tigers might make by playing in Pasadena, Dell said: "That is the last thing which might induce us. I'll admit our athletic coffers are not bursting with funds, but I guess we have plenty of collegiate company in that respect."

His elimination of Princeton leaves only two generally recognized Rose Bowl contenders remaining in the east: Dartmouth and Syracuse. The others have been beaten or do not go in for the Pasadena business. Army and Navy are in the latter class. Temple and George Washington are fairly important unbeaten teams, but it is doubtful if their schedules would be approved.

Southern Aspirants Strong
And during the last half of the season Dartmouth must meet Yale, Cornell and Princeton, while Syracuse has Penn State, Michigan State, Colgate and Columbia on its schedule. The odds are against either coming through unbeaten.

Southern aspirants are Alabama, Tulane and Louisiana State. The latter has been tied twice. Alabama has been the most impressive so far, and has a good chance of beating Kentucky, Clemson, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt. Tulane's strongest opponents will be Colgate and Kentucky, and George Washington is Louisiana State's most dangerous remaining foe.

Powerful Michigan State stands out as the most likely midwestern aspirant, since the Big Ten ban on post-season games would eliminate Minnesota, Illinois and Chicago. All other "big time" midwestern teams have been beaten. Rice, powerhouse of the Southwest, might be a possibility if Rose Bowl officials did not consider the Owls too close to Pasadena to lend proper post-West flavor.

Since it now is an unwritten law that Pacific Coast conference teams must be selected to represent the West, Santa Clara is ruled out, leaving only Stanford, Washington State and Washington on the coast. Stanford and Washington tangle at Palo Alto a week from Saturday.

THREE NAMED TO AID HARBOR BUILDING PLAN

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 30.—Appointment of a group of three well known civic workers of the Newport harbor area to form a women's division of the local harbor housing committee, marked progress of the group as outlined at Monday's meeting. Mrs. C. G. Huston, Costa Mesa, Mrs. W. W. Crozier of Balboa and Mrs. Alfred Smith, Newport Beach, were appointed and will select as many additional women as are deemed necessary to advance the housing program in the vicinity.

Plans to present the national program to the student body at the Newport Harbor union high school were formed, with LeRoy Anderson appointed as a delegate to discuss with Principal Sidney Davidson the selection of speakers to appear at the high school. L. W. Briggs, local chairman, recounted the progress of the recent meeting of Southern California housing delegates, held in Los Angeles.

Three members were added to the general committee from Costa

Mesa, Ross Hostetter, W. B. Malott and Mrs. Huston, bringing the total membership of the group to 20. W. J. Williams of Corona del Mar, also was added to the group. Harry Welch was elected secretary of the organization and proposed a plan for weekly meetings in the future, which was accepted by the committee.

Dinner Held By Buena Park Lodge

BUENA PARK, Oct. 30.—Past Masters' night was celebrated at a recent meeting of the Masonic lodge at the Masonic temple on Grand avenue. William McLaughlin was in charge of the turkey dinner, which was attended by more than 70 guests.

Chrysanthemums in shades of bronze were used in decorating the tables. During the lodge session, the third degree was conferred. Members of the "Pieces of Eight" orchestra, Charlotte Greenawalt, piano; Robert Bacon, baritone; Kathryn Smith, Walter McKenzie, Nina Duden and Elizabeth Hamilton, violins, and Woodrow Smith and Burton McKenzie, cornets, played during the dinner hour.

H. B. Thief Gets Dancers' Purses

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 30.—More than a dozen purses and their contents were stolen from the women's cloak room during the P. T. A. milk fund benefit dance at Memorial hall Saturday night. The stolen purses contained sums of money from a few cents to four or five dollars.

Police were unable to determine how the theft was accomplished, although they believed a woman burglar was responsible. The robbery was not discovered until the dance had ended and those present had begun to gather their wraps to go home.

A large attendance was recorded for the affair, netting a satisfactory profit to help pay for milk for Huntington Beach grammar school children.

SURGEON TELLS OBJECTIONS TO PROPOSED LAW

If there is anyone who does not believe that Amendments 9 and 17 open the doors to drugless healers to practice medicine and surgery without training, that person only need read a few sections of the two acts, to realize their full and true portent, said Dr. H. A. Johnston, prominent Anaheim physician and surgeon, in addressing a meeting of the California Public Health League, Orange county division, at the county hospital chapel last evening.

Section 4 of Amendment 7, Dr. Johnston quoted, defines naturopathy as including "physiotherapy, physical therapy, biochemistry, the use of antiseptics, anesthetics, applied therapeutics and phylloclastic hygiene and sanitation; and the science and art of diagnosis, which enables the naturopathic physician to direct, advise, prescribe, dispense, or apply food, water, roots, herbs, plants, oils, light heat, color, exercises, active and passive, manipulations correcting vital tissue, organs or anatomical structures by manual, mechanical or electrical treatment, instruments and appliances, X-ray, or any and all other natural agencies, etc."

That, said Dr. Johnston, covers the entire field of medicine and surgery. "Nothing is left," he said. He quoted Section 41, of Amendment 17, to show that any person, upon payment of $25 for a license, could be licensed under 17, merely if he had belonged to the Naturopathic Association and had practiced five or more branches of naturopathy for five years, whether or not he had been previously licensed to such practice, or was practicing illegally.

There is no reason, he said, why a barber could not get licensed under this act, as he practices massage, for example. Nurses certainly could get licensed, he said.

Being licensed, these barbers, or any person who may have taken a hot bath regularly for five years, this being a "natural" treatment; or anyone who had rubbed his wife's back, would have unrestricted right to the full practice of medicine and surgery, under section of the act, said Dr. Johnston. This section reads: "Naturopathic physicians licensed under this act shall have, in the practice and conduct of their profession, all the rights and privileges of any and all other practicing physicians or any school or class or division in the treatment of any and all diseases, injuries, deformities, or other mental and physical conditions, etc." This section also gives the drugless healers the right to practice medicine and surgery under the Workman's Compensation Act, said Dr. Johnston.

Both 9 and 17 appear to have been drawn by the same person, he said. Amendment 9, he said, gives drugless healers full powers to practice medicine and surgery, without qualifications. Section 33, he cited, permits drugless healers to take "specimens" from any part of the body for purposes of diagnosis. There would be nothing to prevent them from taking an appendix, or a cyst, or a tumor, for such purpose, he said.

Those who claim that the acts limit practice to minor surgery and require higher educational standards, ignore the sections he cited, said the speaker. The proponents of the two measures, he added, are careful not to quote any sections of the amendments. They speak only in generalities, instead of letting the people themselves read and draw their own conclusions.

Hold Tests For Buena Park Boys

BUENA PARK, Oct. 30.—Reviews for tenderfoot and second class Scouting tests featured the group meeting held recently at the Scout shack on Western avenue. Sam Martner passed second class tests and Donald Sutherland, tenderfoot.

The annual drive for toys to be given to the needy at Christmas time and for jam and jelly to be used by members of the American Legion auxiliary for philanthropic purposes will reopen next week.

Plans were continued for the Scout barbecue to be held November 2 to add to the fund being raised to provide a permanent home for Buena Park Scouts and affiliated groups.

P. T. A. Sponsors Class At Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 30.—The first of a series of parent education classes will be conducted under the auspices of the high school P. T. A. tonight at Memorial hall. The speaker will be Dr. Walter Dexter. The general public is invited to attend the lecture. No admission will be charged and no collection will be taken.

SAYS RED CROSS STILL AIDING SERVICE MEN

The Annual Red Cross Membership drive, to be held in Santa Ana on election day, November 6, will be a reminder to Santa Anans that their Red Cross membership has expired, as well as an invitation to non-members to join.

"The Red Cross membership dollars are still keeping the promises made to American men who went to war in 1917," says Mrs. F. E. Coulter, membership chairman of the local chapter.

Mrs. Coulter says that those who join the Red Cross are still ministering to the wounds of those for whom the war has not ended. The Red Cross helps the veteran and his family solve their problems, in the home and assists the hospitalized veteran in numerous ways, in addition to the great work among the youth of the nation, she explained.

Life saving classes numbering in the hundreds of thousands are held annually all over the United States by the Red Cross, and neighborhood projects fostered by the Junior Red Cross, have fostered high ideals among its members as well as performing noteworthy services for communities nationwide.

In speaking of the ex-service man and his family problem, Mrs. Coulter said that during the past 12 months' period 736 chapters of the Red Cross dealt with the problems of 329,728 ex-service men or their families. In hospitals and regional offices of the Veterans Administration and in other government hospitals, representatives of the national Red Cross dealt with 67,599 men or their families and national Red Cross expenditures for such services totaled $648,900.

Council Approves Plan For School Crossing Guards

SERA PROJECT TO GIVE JOBS TO 15 WORKERS

Santa Ana's participation in the SERA project of assigned men to school crossing duty was assured last night when the city council authorized Police Chief Floyd Howard and Police Commissioner Fred C. Rowland send an affirmative answer to a SERA questionnaire received this week.

Under the terms of the SERA project, as outlined by Fred P. Jayne, of the SERA administration staff, the city must agree to five requirements. These include the fact that the SERA is not responsible for injuries received by workmen, that the police department assumes responsibility for conduct, operation, direction and supervision of the work, that the work relief persons shall be assigned on the regular manner from available personnel, that the police department may remove any incompetent men and shall provide personnel with suitable insignia and identification.

About 15 men will be put to work in Santa Ana, board reported.

TO CALL BIDS NOV. 19 FOR NEW CITY HALL

Construction bids for the new Santa Ana city hall will be called in on November 19, it was decided by the city council last night after City Clerk Ed Vegelys was instructed to call for bids.

Definite approval to call for bids came late yesterday in a telephonic conversation to City Auditor Lloyd Banks from PWA officials in Los Angeles. The documents and set of specifications, each 200 pages long, were completed last week, but owing to the temporary stationing of the head engineer in Los Angeles, there was some delay in getting approval to continue the work.

Several local and outside contractors are said to be ready to submit bids on the new building, which will cost approximately $100,000 and will be built at Third and Main streets. After the bids are called the council will make the award of the contract in about two weeks, and then work will start as soon as possible.

It is estimated that the work should be underway by the end of this year, although the actual time necessary to finish the building cannot be accurately computed because of the uncertainty in using laborers from the government registers, officials said. Barring unforeseen delays, architects predict that the building should be ready for occupancy in six months after work starts.

"A Little Child Shall Lead Them"

The fact that King Peter is only 11 years old detracted not an iota from the respectful welcome accorded him by the generals of the Yugo-Slavian army when he arrived in his capital from London. He is shown shaking hands with the army leaders who greeted him at the railroad station in Belgrade. Behind King Peter stands his widowed mother, Queen Marie, and second from the right is Prince Paul, the principal regent.

SANTA ANANS RETURN FROM AUTO TRIP THROUGH EUROPE; COMPARE LIVING CONDITIONS

Not even millionaires in most European countries can enjoy the privileges and things which in the United States the common working people take for granted as part of their daily lives, according to Guy Barp, former proprietor of the North Main Drive-In Market, Main street and Washington avenue, who, with his family, just returned from an extensive tour of several nations in Europe.

Accompanied by his wife and his two daughters, Stella and Irene Barp, and his sister, Irma Barp, the local business man was gone nearly five months on the trip. The trip took the party through England, Scotland, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Holland and Belgium. More than a month was spent in Switzerland, Barp's native land, where both he and his wife have relatives.

On this trip the Barps took their automobile with them, driving first to New York and then taking the car aboard ship in order to tour through the hearts of countries visited. On the return trip the party drove through Canada, stopping at Chicago to visit the World Fair.

Driving through the countries in an automobile gave the party a chance to see the real conditions of the countries, Barp said, and how the common people were living. They were in Austria when Dolfus was killed and when it looked like war was about to start. They passed through mobilized troops with large guns at the Italian border.

Traveling through England and Scotland to see friends, the party found wonderful state roads through these two, as well as other countries in Europe. In England Barp got a Great Britain license

Soliciting For Pension Data Not Authorized Here

Attention was called today to the fact that a certain investigation agency in Santa Ana is soliciting and collecting funds from elderly people, to gather data for applications for federal pensions, anticipating that a pension law will be enacted by congress.

Various persons have paid $5 each or more as a "retainer" for agency to gather records of births, in order to prove age eligibility for pensions. An equal sum is supposed to be paid after the pension is obtained, it was said.

J. T. Nichols, state divisional manager of the Townsend Old Age Pension plan, stated today that the Townsend organization has no connection whatever with such soliciting, and has given nobody authority to approach any person for such purpose.

Stop Bad Breath

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels, stimulating them to natural action, and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous cathartics do without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no gripping pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with constipation with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two at bedtime for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. —Adv.

ESTABLISHMENT OF PRORATE ON PRODUCE ASKED

Petitions requesting the California prorate commission to establish prorate on celery, green onions, carrots, cauliflower, cabbage and rhubarb were received today at the farm advisor's office in the courthouse annex. It was announced today by Eric E. Eastman, assistant farm advisor.

These vegetables, Eastman pointed out, have been selling at unsatisfactory prices as a result of the disorderly marketing, and the establishment of prorate zones is intended to rectify the condition. The proposed prorate is in accordance with the provision of the California prorate act.

The prorate is entirely voluntary and petitions are considered only if two-thirds of the growers representing two-thirds of the acreage sign the petitions. Therefore, growers of these products who desire to secure more orderly marketing should take the initiative by signing these petitions as soon as possible, Eastman pointed out. Copies will be available for signature at the farm advisor's office until further notice.

Signatures for the rhubarb prorate should be completed by November 1 and the remaining petitions by November 10, Eastman announced. The prorate zones include the counties growing each crop commercially from San Luis Obispo to San Diego, inclusive.

Specifically, the celery petition omits Riverside and San Bernardino counties; the green onion petition omits San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara counties; the carrot petition includes Imperial county; the cauliflower petition includes Monterey, Santa Clara, Alameda and Santa Cruz counties; the cabbage petition includes Imperial county and the rhubarb petition omits San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara counties. In other respects the petitions are quite similar.

Interested growers were requested to contact the farm advisor's office immediately.

GRAIN GROWERS TOLD TO CHECK SEED QUALITY

Grain growers who soon will be seeding for next year's grain or hay crop were urged today by Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory to be particular about the quality of seed planted.

To make available to growers desirous of using seed, pure as to variety, free from noxious weeds and with a 95 per cent germination test, a state approved seed association has been organized, he pointed out.

A definite course of procedure was drawn up for the grower to follow to qualify as a grower of pure seed. The county committee appointed by the state approved seed association looks after seed inspections and obtains samples for securing purity, germination and noxious weed determinations. "This work," Cory said, "has continued for a sufficient time now as to build up a supply of superior seed. Anyone wishing such seed may obtain names of growers producing 'Calapproved' seed from the farm advisor's office. 'Calapproved' seed is the trade name by which this seed is known. It has met all the requirements recognized in the production of superior seed."

FIVE MARRIAGES DISSOLVED AFTER COURT HEARINGS

Three divorces and two annulments were granted and one annulment was denied, as marital differences were laid before the three superior court judges at the recent domestic relations sessions.

Mrs. Joan Holzman was denied her suit for annulment, after she claimed that Colik Holzman, after being repeatedly refused her hand in marriage, had got her drunk and then took her to Yuma, where they wed. Judge H. G. Ames denied the annulment, when testimony indicated that the girl was not so intoxicated that she wasn't aware she was getting married.

Judge Ames however granted annulment to Darrel E. Packard, 20, of his marriage to Gladys Packard, which also took place at Yuma last January 22. The youth lacked parental consent to his marriage.

Mrs. Hazel I. Norris was granted annulment of her marriage to Lawrence Norris, who she said had another wife when she married him in Santa Ana May 11, 1931. Judge G. K. Scovel heard the case.

A divorce was granted by Judge Scovel to Mrs. Imogene Reif, of Santa Ana, who charged Eugene Reif with cruelty. Last May 13, she said, she saw him with another woman in a Seal Beach cafe. They

Bethothed Couple Will Be Wedded in Late December

Entertaining at a family dinner Sunday in their home on Mitchell avenue, Tustin, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Dohmer made the occasion an announcement party at which was revealed the betrothal of their daughter, Miss Ruth Louise Dohmer, and Garth D. Olsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Olsen of Costa Mesa.

Relatives bidden for the dinner were unaware of the significance of the yellow roses encircling the place cards. But when the cards were turned over, it was found that the roses had concealed the inscription, "Garth and Ruth, December 27." This was an appropriate time for Mr. Olsen to present his fiancée with a corsage cluster of gardenias to which was attached her beautiful engagement ring.

Yellow and green, established by the place cards as the decorative color motif, appeared in a centerpiece of fluffy yellow chrysanthemums, in the slender tapers down the center of the table and in the topaz crystal used. With the dessert course the colors were stressed in the frosting of angel food cake and in the icing in flower basket molds.

The engagement culminated a pretty campaign which began when Miss Dohmer and Mr. Olsen attended Santa Ana High school. Both young people have shown special interest in the city's two junior Masonic organizations, and Miss Dohmer completed in June her term of office as honored queen of Santa Ana Job's daughters, while Mr. Olsen has served as master counselor of the De Molay chapter.

Many Friends Assemble For Tea Complimenting Visitor

Opportunity to greet Mrs. Wendell Steward of Columbus, Ohio, formerly Miss Katherine Kirven of this community, was given many friends on Sunday afternoon when Mrs. William T. Kirven and Miss Cynthia Kirven entertained informally at an at home for their visiting daughter and sister.

The Kirven home on West Seventeenth street was brilliant with chrysanthemums, with orange, tan and rust shades used in the living room with deep hued candles. Golden yellow and white "mums" were used in the dining room and fill a big silver bowl on the tea table. Pale yellow candles in silver candlesticks completed the charming effect.

Miss Katherine Steward and Mrs. Ralph E. Macbeth of Anaheim, who accompanied Mrs. Steward, were seated at the table, and a variety of sandwiches, petits fours and sweets formed the menu. Miss Steward is a sister of Wendell Steward. Miss Mildred Bisset of Fullerton assisted in the dining room.

Pretty gardenia corsages were provided for those who aided during the afternoon, but especially lovely were the gardenias and jasmine which outlined the corsage of Mrs. Steward's black chiffon velvet afternoon gown. The flowers had been wired from Columbus by her husband especially for the afternoon function.

Small Wendell Olin Steward was quite the center of interest during the afternoon. He is barely two years old and is named for his father and his paternal grandfather, Olin Steward of Anaheim. The latter, accompanied by Mrs. Steward, formerly Mrs. C. W. Burns of this city, attended the afternoon party.

Wendell Steward, who is in the physics department of Ohio State University, expects to go abroad soon to take his Ph. D. degree either at Oxford or in Berlin, so Mrs. Steward came west at this time so that she might be free to accompany him should the decision to start come suddenly. She will remain for a month or six weeks.

With the many Santa Ana and Junior college friends at the tea in her honor were others from Los Angeles, where she studied voice and violin in the Zoellner studio; Santa Monica, Alhambra, and all sections of Orange county.

A BIT OF FEMININE CHIC FOR A DAINTY WEE THINGPATTERN 2033
BY ANNE ADAMS

For wee girls who like feminine touches even on their tailored frocks this sweet little dress boasts a cunning scalloped collar and delicate scalloped yoke. If even more is required, tiny frills may be added to either side of the buttoned opening. The full sleeves are trimly cuffed and the front panel opens into two smart inverted pleats. The young lady in the picture is probably showing off her pretty new bloomers which match her frock. They come with the pattern. This would be an adorable dress in any pretty cotton or challis, but in a brown wool crepe with a smart white collar it would be about perfect.

Pattern 2033 is available in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4 takes 2 1/4 yards 36 inch fabric and 1 1/4 yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon

Hot clear tomato broth with 1 scant tsp. whipped cream

Open-faced toasted cheese sandwich

Clear tea, no sugar.

Calory total, 325.

Heat tomato juice or the juice off a can of tomatoes for the cup of broth. Season highly and pour over the scant tablespoonful of whipped cream in the cup bottom.

Dust cream with celery salt and paprika. For the open-faced sandwich the cheese allowance is one square inch, sliced thin, arranged on a slice of lightly buttered bread, then slipped under the broiler until the cheese melts and bubbles.

Don't worry about the digestibility of the toasted cheese. The tomato broth will help the cheese along.

Going back to yesterday's subject—chipped beef—let me suggest a busy day luncheon dish for your hungry family. For four people fry 1-4 pound chipped beef in butter, then add the necessary flour and milk to cream it. Put

TOOK PILLS FOR 30 YEARS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF

Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter:

"After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe, Box 219, Youngstown, N. Y.

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using patent medicines—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

For quite a while, the Tinymites, all anxious to find brand-new sights raced on, behind the gator. Then wee Dotty cried, "Hey, wait! I know my mind will never last, if I keep tearing on this fast. The alligator is so strong, he gets an awful salt." "All right, I'll slow him down a bit," said Scouty. "Then I'll let you sit upon his back and ride a while. I guess that's only fair." "Wee Coppy, too, can use his feet, and Goldy, then, can take his seat. No matter what the beast does, don't let him give you a scare."

And then he loudly shouted, "Whoa!" but this just made the gator go much faster than he had been going. "Help!" wee Coppy cried.

"Please quickly find a way to stop this beast, or I will take a flop. If I can just get off, I'll never take another ride."

The other Tinymites tried their best to keep up. "Oh, I'll have to rest," said Duncy, in a little while. The speed's too much for me.

"I knew that beast was full of tricks. Right now we're in an awful fix. We'll have to rescue our two friends, but how, I cannot see."

The two girl Tinymites also stopped, and to the ground they quickly dropped. "There's nothing we can do," said Goldy. "Let's hope for the best."

"Wee Scouty is a real brave lad, and lots of thrillers he has had, but this time, tota, his cannot see."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS.

Just then the gator reached a stream, and Coppy heard brave Scouty scream, "Jump off! He's going swimming. He will take us 'neath the sea!" To try to jump, though, was no use. The gator promptly tossed them loose, and dove into the water. Shortly, out of sight was he. (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

FAMOUS FOOTBALL FEATS!

IT was in 1922 when Chuck Palmer, Northwestern backfield ace, pulled his "famous feat" against Minnesota. The Gophers were admittedly stronger than the Wildcats. In the first period Minnesota registered a touchdown and the extra point.

Then came a Northwestern drive, which was finally halted on the 40-yard marker. Minnesota took up the offensive and worked up to the four-yard line.

On fourth down, McCreary hit the Northwestern line so hard the ball dropped out of his hands and rolled over the marker Palmer scooped up the ball four yards behind his own goal and never stopped until he had crossed the Gophers' The game ended 7-7.

Report Reveals Need For New Beach Water Wells

COMMITTEE TO GET DATA ON NEWPORT SITE

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 30.—Need for the drilling of new water wells for Newport Beach was disclosed at last night's city council meeting with the report of City Engineer R. L. Patterson that the city wells were contaminated.

Patterson's investigation of the water situation, which was commenced early in September following complaints from Newport residents, confirmed the suspicion of contamination, and recommended the finding of a new site for the wells. Newport Beach has received its drinking water since September 11 from the mains of Laguna Beach.

Mayor Herman Hilmer was authorized by the council to appoint a citizens' committee for the purpose of investigating the matter and making recommendations for the drilling. H. L. Sherman, Newport Beach, was appointed as chairman of the committee, with other appointments to follow. A request will be made to the board of supervisors of Orange county to assist in the investigation.

The city found itself faced with the possibility of a direct suit for the amount of $300 through the Balboa Island Water Carnival association. The dispute over the Balboa Island association bill was featured by a verbal battle between Mayor Hilmer and J. S. Brown, of Balboa Island, and the hurling of the lie between Councilman Gordon and J. A. Beek.

A dispute centered about the purchase of $150 worth of fireworks, $93 worth of newspaper advertising and $50 worth of trophies, bought by the carnival association for its Venetian Nights fete, held May 30. In presenting the bill, J. A. Beek, secretary of the association, contended that the city had authorized the purchases, through the advertising committee.

The controversy, which raged for over an hour, was precipitated when Irvin George Gordon, member of the city advertising committee, flatly stated he had not authorized the purchase, declaring the transaction to be illegal. As a member of the city finance committee, Gordon refused to sign the demand. Councilman Paul Ellsworth, also a member of the advertising committee, maintained the purchases had been authorized.

The UNKNOWN PIONEER

By Laura Lou Brookman

BEGIN HERE TODAY

David Bannister undertakes to find out who killed Tracy King, orchestra leader found dead in his hotel apartment. Bannister, an author and former newspaper man, works on the murder case with Gaiety, star reporter for the Post.

Among those suspected of the crime are Juliet France, blond and pretty, known to have visited King shortly before his death; Herman Scurlish who wrote King a threatening letter; and Joe Parrott, down-and-out vaudeville actor. It is also known that Melville Hollister, middle-aged spinster, had quarreled with King recently.

King was engaged to wealthy Melville Lang. Matthew Hollister, Melville's brother, tells Bannister, believes his sister knows something she is keeping from the police.

Al Dragan, friend of King's, is found dead in a wrecked automobile. Bannister convinces Police Chief Henley that the best way to get information about Juliet France is to release her and then watch her closely. He takes her to his aunt's home, ostensibly as a guest. Later he learns that Joe Parrott has been found.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIX.

The news of Joe Parrott's arrest had reached the Evening Post office by telegraph. Parrott had been picked up by St. Louis police and was being held there. Already Captain McNeal had announced he would send a man to bring Parrott back to Tremont.

The detective was leaving on a night train. Parrott was wanted. McNeal said, for questioning concerning the "Tracy King murder" and "another serious offense."

Bannister talked it over with Austin, the assistant city editor. The report that had come on the teletype machine was nothing more than a few lines saying Parrott was being held until instructions were received from officials in Tremont.

"So he went back to his old stamping ground," Bannister exclaimed. "McNeal told me Parrott was in some kind of a mixup in St. Louis last winter. Arrested or indicted—I've forgotten. I believe it had something to do with dope."

"I'll have Gaiety check up on that," Austin said quickly. Austin had read Bannister's novels and admired them. He couldn't quite bring himself to assign chores to this celebrated writer as he would have to a reporter. After all, Austin was only an assistant city editor, and young one.

"What's McNeal mean by this other 'serious offense'?" he asked. "The boys couldn't get him to say anything more about it."

Bannister shook his head. "Don't know," he said. "McNeal's got something up his sleeve. I've been sure of that for a long while. But he won't show his hand. You know McNeal wasn't sure Al Dragan's death was just an accident. He told me so. Maybe he thinks Parrott had something to do with it."

They talked for half an hour longer, mulling over the case. Then Bannister left the office, took a street car and rode home.

As he stood before the mirror in his bedroom, tying his necktie and then retying it, Bannister reflected this was the first evening in many that he had bothered to dress for dinner. It was, as a matter of fact, the first evening in the week he had spent at home. Days and evenings, too, had become very much alike. He spent them at the newspaper office, at police headquarters, now and then launching out on some wild and fruitless expedition. He had eaten his meals in cheap restaurants with Gaiety and Cunningham. So far as he was concerned there was nothing whatever in life except the Tracy King murder case—and all the time he had spent trying to solve it had gone for nothing.

Bannister studied himself in the mirror, frowned and grasped the ends of the offending necktie. He pulled them loose and for the third time knotted them again. That was better. Yes, that would do.

He turned away from the mirror, walked to the window. It was dark outside. Time to go down stairs. Still Bannister lingered.

He picked up a paper knife, toyed with it and put it aside. He sat down on the edge of the desk. It wasn't he assured himself once more, that he had intended doing Juliet France a favor by bringing her to his aunt's home. It was pleasant for her here, of course, but that wasn't why he had done it. She was here because Bannister believed Captain Henley was right. The girl was the key to the mystery of the murder. She knew more than she had admitted and finding out her secret was the task Bannister had set for himself. Living here, unaware that anyone was watching her, she could be sure to give herself away.

Bannister was pleased with the way he had handled matters. The girl evidently had accepted his story. Aunt Kate, likewise, had shown no signs of doubt. He had told her that Miss France was an old friend, a girl he had known in New York. He had happened to meet her, had discovered that she was remaining in Tremont for a few days until she had news about a job she had applied for, and felt it was no more than courteous to ask her to stay with them. To all this Aunt Kate had agreed.

The rest of the task was going to be more difficult. Bannister stretched his shoulders, stood up. He'd better go down and have a talk with Miss Juliet France. And he was aware of all her trickery now! She wouldn't fool him as she had before.

But there was no time then to talk. Bannister went downstairs and met his aunt in the hallway.

"Oh, there you are, David!" she exclaimed. "I was just going to call you. Everything's ready to put on the table."

"Has Miss France come down?" "Yes, she's in the living room. You go tell her that dinner's ready."

He went into the living room. The girl looked up from the magazine in her lap and smiled. "Good evening," she said.

Bannister didn't speak for an instant. He stood looking at this strangely transformed Juliet France. She had put on a blouse of shimmering ivory silk, low at the throat. Always before he had seen her in green. He hadn't imagined her wearing anything else. The glow of the lamp light fell on her hair and he saw that it was really golden. She was still pale, but she seemed refreshed and rested.

"Good evening," he said. "My aunt sent me to tell you that dinner is ready."

A few minutes later they were at the table. Kate Hewlett had, as usual when it came to cooking, done herself proud. The roast was beautifully browned, juicy and tender. The vegetables were well seasoned, the salad crisp and delicious.

But it was the dessert that was the masterpiece. A pudding so light and delicately flavored that Bannister had no idea of what it was made. There were tiny cakes that Kate had herself baked to go with the pudding.

Juliet France murmured, "I don't know when I've seen such food! And every mouthful is just as good as it looks, too."

"Let me get you another helping," Mrs. Hewlett urged. "I'll do you good to eat."

"Oh, no!" the girl protested. "I couldn't eat another bite. Really I couldn't."

They had their coffee and then Kate Hewlett sent the young people back to the living room.

"But I want to help with the dishes," Juliet said.

"Frederick will do them," Bannister spoke up. "He's the house man."

Kate Hewlett's tone flared. "Frederick will do nothing of the sort!" she said. "Do you think I'd trust my china to his clumsy fingers? I'll do them myself!"

"But please!" the girl urged. "Let me help!"

The older woman was firm. "Some other time," she said "but not tonight. You and David go in by the fire. I'll come as soon as I've finished in the kitchen. I won't take me any time at all."

The flames in the fireplace had died away and there was little more than an edge of crimson on the charred wood. Bannister busied himself at the hearth for several minutes.

When he turned he saw that the girl was standing beside the piano, glancing at some music.

"Do you play?" he asked.

"A little."

"I'd like very much to hear you."

Her eyes raised to his but he could not read their glance. Then, without replying, she sat down, touched the keyboard. "I'm rather out of practice," she said.

The notes were vaguely familiar. Bannister had heard them before some where, probably at a concert, but he had never heard them like this—leaning back in a comfortable chair before a fire place. The girl played surely, sweetly. Bannister, listening, thought of the monotonous lapping of ocean waves against a sandy beach. The music was like that, with the melody coming in clear and strong above the waves. No—not waves, of course! But it sounded the way waves do.

How pleasant all this was—a warm, attractive room, the firelight and the music. Bannister drew on his cigarette deeply and let the twisted wreath of smoke escape from his lips. Pleasant indeed! He had forgotten how agreeable an evening such as this could be.

The music came to an end then. Bannister arose and moved to the piano. "This is a real treat," he said. "Please don't stop yet!"

The girl looked up, smiled. There was a mischievous light in her eyes as she said, "I think, Mr. Bannister, I should tell you that you aren't deceiving me for a moment!"

SAN FRANCISCO CELEBRATES THE COMPLETION OF HETCH HETCHY PROJECT

People of San Francisco are celebrating the completion of the Hetch Hetchy municipal water project. The work has been going forward for more than twenty years. It has cost the lives of eighty-nine men. The originator of the plan, after devoting the last twenty years of his life to it, never lived to share the joy of its completion. The project has cost the city of San Francisco a hundred million dollars—this undertaking of bringing fresh mountain water from the height of the Sierra Nevada Mountains to the reach of the people gathered around the Golden Gate.

People in this region are all sufficiently water conscious to know what this event means in San Francisco, unless possibly some in the south had thought the problem a bit more localized.

Anyone estimating the cost of this project in human lives lost and spent upon it, and the money expended and in the face of those figures remaining doubtful of its worth, would do well to ponder a report from a traveler in Chaldea. In Chaldea the people are desperately in need of water. They are very poor, but they would gladly give all that they have in order that they and their children might have water. But the King of Iraq must give his consent before any project can be undertaken, and he refuses to give permission for the project.

A description of what water means to those people brings us some realization of what such a project as the Hetch Hetchy really means to San Francisco. As yet the people in California cities are not desperate, as the Chaldeans know desperation. Projects for the bringing of the water to the increasing population of the coast have been acts of foresight by men who are wise in their outlook toward the future. Since some of these projects have been completed, the future they foresaw has become the present. By their efforts, the people of this country have been saved from the desperate straits of the Chaldeans. But a picture of the value of water in Chaldea shows us what might be the condition in this country if it were not for these wise ones who have saved us.

The traveler in Iraq was told by a Chaldean guide of the joy the people of his country found in a cupful of fresh water, that the little children cried for fresh water and were unbelievably happy when they were given a cupful. This traveler determined to visit that country and see for herself. It was as her informant said. On the running board of the car they took skin bottles filled with fresh water. The lad who had told her about the country accompanied her and planned to spend the wages he had saved during a year of service for water to take to his people. It was the most precious gift he could take them. It was a triumphant moment in the life of that young Chaldean boy when he returned to his village on holiday with enough fresh water to treat the whole village.

One little girl, a lovely child, was guilty of trying to deceive the lady dispensing water. She thought if she crowded up the lady would not recognize that she had given her one portion and would give her another. But her companions frustrated the scheme by exposing her. The child was covered with confusion, and the lady was heartsick because she could not give the child a second cup, for if she had there would not have been enough water for all. Other descriptions come from Persia and Iraq of the existence of people who have too little water, and it is such terms as these that we appreciate fully the Hetch Hetchy project in the north and the similar projects in the south.

PROPOSAL NUMBER 12 FAR FROM CLEAR

Number 12 on the ballot aims, apparently, to establish limitation of interest rates on some loaners of money.

It would make the normal rate seven per cent, and that no rate should be permitted to be charged the borrower by any method where there would be in excess of ten per cent on such loans.

This part of the amendment we believe all folks would favor, except those who are desirous of robbing the borrower. But then the same amendment to the constitution exempts from all these restrictions practically all the regular loaners of money, for note, it exempts in this constitutional provision, from the operation of the constitution, building and loan associations, industrial loan companies, credit unions, pawnbrokers, personal property brokers, banks, various non-profit co-operative associations, or any association, syndicate, joint stock company, or partnership engaged in certain lines of trade.

By the time one reads over these exemptions, which by this would be exempted in the organic law of the state, one cannot help reaching the conclusion that there is a big possibility that the real purpose of this amendment is to exempt all the loaning institutions from this usury provision and then have the legislature pass a special act on their behalf.

We recall, some years ago, the state legislature of Illinois had before it a measure which was ostensibly for the purpose of making the bucket-shops illegitimate. The real purpose of it was to legitimize the board of trade by statute.

After defining the "bucket-shops" and then declaring all transactions within them "gambling" and "illegal," it went on to provide, by definition, that any organization such as the board of trade, defining it, should be exempt from the provisions of this act, as they were a legal institution within the meaning of the law. The object of this legislation is to protect the borrower from exorbitant rates of interest. It should be done. This amendment, however, does not do it, and by implication it would suggest to the legislature that favoritism and protection be made to the various loaning institutions enumerated.

We cannot see how this amendment of the constitution is adequate and would not favor it.

NUMBER THIRTEEN

Number 13 is the local option initiative, for which The Register is known to stand unequivocally, and the arguments for it have already been presented. We will not take the space to reiterate them.

NUMBER 14 LIMITS CHOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Number 14 on the ballot has to do with the supposed election of superior court judges in those counties having a population of over a million and a half. This would apply only to Los Angeles county.

It would appear, on the fact of it, that in preparing the legislation for the rest of the state, proposal number three, an exception was made for Los Angeles, possibly with the hope of getting Los Angeles people to support both amendments.

We would raise the same objection to this proposed amendment as we would to that providing for the election of the superior court judges in the rest of the state. While it might appear there is an election, there is really no election.

The governor appoints the superior court judge from recommendations by a board. This board comprises the chief justice of the supreme court, the presiding justice of the appellate district court and that particular county's state senator.

Can you imagine the power taken away from the people and a mixture of alleged politics and justice more unique than that? In further selection the candidate never runs against another candidate, but just against himself. We remember the old political adage, "You can't lick somebody with nobody."

Undoubtedly the men who drew this amendment knew this adage very well, and it wasn't intended to defeat the candidate. The people would be absolutely indifferent to his election or retirement because they would have no voice in the election of his successor, even if they retire him. If you desire to have a farcical election, carry out that one, giving the people power to determine who they cannot have, but never giving them the power to determine who they can have.

NUMBER 15 ON BALLOT PROVIDES FOR CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Number 15 on the ballot provides for an assembly constitutional amendment number 73. It proposes to amend the constitution in the selection of superior court judges, so that in all counties having a million or more, the judges shall be selected by districts.

The judges so selected must be residents of the respective districts for which they are appointed. On the face of this, it would appear quite fair, yet there are some districts in a county having a million inhabitants in which it would be difficult to find eminently qualified members of the legal profession fit for judges.

It would almost force upon the bench some men of inferior character and inferior ability. This does not limit, of course, the jurisdiction of the particular judge, to the district for which he is appointed—he is a judge of the superior court, with full jurisdictional powers.

The object is to select the judges as the other amendments propose, and no candidates are permitted against them. It has been urged that the reason for this amendment is that selecting them from the districts saves the increased cost of campaign which obtains in case they have to become candidates for the entire county. This argument is destroyed, provided the judges are selected by the governor and have no opponent, when the election is held to determine whether they shall continue.

For the governor to appoint judges and then confine them to geographical districts in a county, is, in our judgment, to sacrifice efficiency and fundamental justice to the building of an extensive and efficient political machine.

Would Honor Mrs. Hoyt With National Monument

It has been proposed in Pasadena that the proposed national monument of a million acres of desert land in San Bernardino and Riverside counties be named the Minerva Hoyt National monument in recognition of the many years of effort by Mrs. Hoyt to preserve the natural beauties and wonders of the desert.

The Federal Government looks with favor upon the proposal to set aside the wild region so that it will remain in its present state.

The Louiest Word

Not since George Bernard Shaw's use of "bloody" have British linguistic sensibilities been so offended as by C. W. A. Scott's use of "lousy" to describe his flight to Australia. The London Times substituted "dreadful," while another found "rotten" less offensive. There is no doubt that "lousy" is the louiest word in the language, and the London papers' index expurgatorius might well become a general precedent.

More Truth Than Poetry

A Spanish doctor of eighty—one has gone back to college.

DISHING OUT A LAUREL

You would think that a person of eighty Who has spent a long lifetime at work, Would feel somewhat inclined To look 'round him and find A duty or two he might shirk. You'd imagine he'd sometime go fishing, Or take in a musical show, Or go to a dance, For a man has small chance Of happiness down here below.

But a doctor in Spain that I read of, While skimming the cream of the news, Although aged eighty-one, Has no hanker for run; He harbors quite different views. He had to get rid of his practice, But he will not hole up in his den. Though it seems quite absurd The dauntless old bird Has gone back to college again.

He has taken his seat as a freshman, Although well past his eightieth year, And, beyond any doubt, He joins in the shout That is known as the old college cheer. A rah-rahing greybeard past eighty One may view as a trifle absurd, But I think, just the same, That the laurels of fame Ought to crown the undaunted old bird.

The first record of gambling was that time when man chose heads and the monkey tails. Yet so many things that oldsters do would seem dumb if done by kids of eighteen. Eat carefully, yes; but all that is necessary to take from the ordinary diet is half. The chief cause of higher-priced food, however, will be scarcity of conscience. The President has to follow somebody's advice. When you get 120 million kinds, the field is covered. SO A CIGARETTE GIVES YOU NEW PEP? WELL, WE'VE SEEN A PIPE GIVE A DOZEN LOUNGERS THE ENERGY TO ARISE AND BEAT IT.

It's hard to balance the budget. Nobody knows how much it will cost to find out a scheme won't work. Maybe new ways are best, but a curling iron heated in a lamp chimney caught many a good man. While you think of it, make a note to tell the children that the address of Santa Claus isn't the North Pole this time.

AMERICANISM: Calling it efficient organization when workers obey orders; calling it regimenting when the boss must take orders as workers do.

What scares California is that Sinclair may end poverty and millionaires at the same time. Republic aren't so ungrateful. They don't erect an awful bronze statue of a hero till he's dead. You can tell a man who has a dumb wife. He always talks like a school teacher telling the third grade.

IT'S NO WONDER THERE'S SO MUCH INSOMNIA. LOOK HOW LOUD PAJAMAS ARE.

Another test of self-control is to have your wife use her patient-mother tone of voice on you in public. The Jugo-Slavs are one people not yet Americanized. They do their assassinating for the fun of it. Liberty is like a pie. The more people there are to share it, the smaller the portions must be. Still, if a man had no wife to quarrel with, he would find some other excuse when he wished to throw a drunk.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "IT'S A GOOD STORY," SAID THE WIFE, "AND I NEVER GET TIRED OF HEARING MY HUSBAND TELL IT."

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

HE PROVED TOO MUCH

I have before expressed in these articles my profound distrust of the money-economists, by which I mean the economists who think the root of our troubles is to be found in the field of credit and currency, and that the disease of depression can be cured by artificial manipulation of credit and currency.

I lunched the other day with a distinguished American who possesses a singularly clean and cool intelligence. We wandered over his truly vast estate on which six partner-tenants successfully operate several thousand acres of farm land, and as we wandered we talked of the current economic situation. He had just returned from a conference of leading executives at which he had listened to a money-economist who has been much in the public eye during the last two years. He had, he told me, remained silent during the discussion that followed the economist's explanation of how currency manipulation was the key to the solution of all our difficulties. But the chairman called him to the colors to take part in the discussion. And this, in effect, is what he said:

"The trouble with the Professor is that he has proved too much. If the way out of our economic paralysis is as simple as he says, then it does not make much difference whether we run our enterprises wisely or foolishly. A managed currency of the sort he pictures can be made to act as automatic governor of the situation. By what is done to the currency we can speed up or slow down the basic functions of the economic order at will."

This is the fatal weakness of so much of the rabbit-out-of-the-hat economics being hawked in the market place just now.

The credit and currency system is of course, a vital part of the economic process. As I have said before in these articles, we see to it always that our credit and currency system is quantitatively adequate, technically sensitive, and socially responsible, but the success or failure of our economic system will be determined back of the currency and credit front, far back where we decide the policies of wages, hours, prices, profits and production.

QUARRELING CHILDREN

Why do children, even brothers and sisters, quarrel so among themselves? For the same reason that grown people do. The children have not acquired the art of covering their wish to dispute with the neighbors and the grown-ups, for the most part, have acquired it.

Children quarrel because they think differently about things. One wants to make a bridge and the other says No, a house. One likes a playmate and the other dislikes him and each defends his side. That is all there is to it. Differences makes occasions for quarrels. When children think about alike they seldom quarrel. They may disagree but usually with violence. It is when the difference is wide and deep that the span cannot be bridged and they fight.

The span of difference between ages is one reason for quarrels among children. A three year old child and a five year old differ widely in social experiences. The five year old child usually has a maturer outlook, broader fields of interests, deals with more complex ideas than the three year old. In consequence the two cannot bridge the span of their differences. They irritate each other. The stronger one tries to force the weaker one to his way and the quarrel is on once more.

Girls and boys of the early teens, the twelve year old and the thirteen, are often at loggerheads. They have little in common. They irritate each other because of the difference in interests. The boys are all for noise, action, rough play, the rough and ready swaggers of the playground, while the girls are misshapen and nice and superior. War is inevitable between them.

The best we can do to keep the peace is to frown upon the rows and the minute the trouble starts, separate them. Keep them apart long enough to allow the isolation to impress itself to their inconvenience. Half an hour is no use. A half day, a week, is better.

When you find that a brother and sister cannot meet without a fight try to arrange things so that each has friends close to his own social age. Let the boy have his group and the girl hers and avoid the mistake of making brother and sister play together because "he is your brother," or "she is your sister."
